U. S. CHURCH DIV U. J. JAHN JAHN DESPITE SUPREME COURT DECISION

Government-Owned Vessels
to Bar Liquor for Present; Complications.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—(By the Associated Press)—Definite indications were given by Chairman Lasker of the shipping board after a conference today with President Harding that government-owned ships would be kept "bone dry" for some time at least, although under yesterday's supreme court decision they legally could carry and serve liquor on the high seas.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES,

Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 1.—The law enforcement branch of the government almost fired down today in the morass of complications arising from the supreme court's interpretation of the liquor act.

Officials, faced with the task of framing new rules and regulations, declared ruefully that court's decision made the laws clear enough, but added immeasurably to the difficulties of enforcement. These outstanding facts confronted officials today:

1.—The three-mile limit has been generally turned into the great American bar line beyond which smugglers, bootleggers and keepers of floating saloons may ply their trade unmolested by American authorities.

2.—Veritable armadas of smuggling boats may gather just over the three-mile line and play hide and seek with American patrols, flooding the coast with liquor wherever they can.

3.—Into American waters anything except medicinal liquor, despite the fact the laws of at least three countries—France, Italy and Spain—require steamship owners furnish wine rations for crews.

Violation of these laws by foreigners renders their vessels liable to seizure and confiscation by the American government—a proceeding filled with undreamed-of international complications.

Adelphians to Meet Thursday Afternoon

ALAMEDA, May 1.—The monthly union meeting of the Adelphians club of this city will be held Thursday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock in the club house on Central Avenue with Mrs. E. J. Collier, acting as hostess for the afternoon.

The program for the afternoon will include songs, readings and impersonations by Howard L. Mullan, assisted by Estelle Philbin, noted song writer; a violin solo by Miss Olive Reed with Miss Irene Harris Vogt at the piano.

POLITICAL NOTES

School Director Fred Campbell, elected at the primaries, today issued another statement in support of Mrs. Maudie E. Royle, seeking election to fill the unexpired term of her late husband, Harry L. Royle. James Flynn and Leon Franks submitted candidates for School Director No. 4 at the primaries, supporting Mrs. Royle. They have issued statements and have taken the field in her support.

Joseph F. Chandler, candidate for re-election as school director, spoke to over 800 people Friday night at the new auditorium of the Garfield school. The meeting was held under the auspices of the Garfield Parent-Teacher association.

"Oakland now ranks third in the list of the fastest growing cities in the world and the administration of its government is not up to par with its rank among the cities," declared W. J. Montague, candidate for supervisor No. 1, during the course of a meeting last evening at St. Anthony's church, 11th and Seventeenth and Sixteenth Avenue. Montague also spoke at a meeting of the Railway Conductors in the Pacific building and at a men's smoker at Temple Sinai.

"More and more the public is conscious of the fact that there is great strides are now being made in the matter of municipal government," he continued. "Since the school department strikes into the bones through the school child I believe that the responsibility of a school director is equal to that of any other public official."

Mrs. P. J. Kramer, candidate for School Director No. 2 and endorsed by the Good Government League, has issued the following statement of thanks to her supporters at the primary election:

"I wish to express my sincere thanks to the voters of Oakland who supported me so overwhelmingly in the primary election. The 3000 majority over four other candidates showed that the people earnestly considered my qualifications for the position. May I ask for a continuation of this support at the general election, May 8, in order that the campaign which we have set ourselves upon may be brought to a successful conclusion."

Fred Campbell has announced that he will throw his support to Harvey S. Craig, local attorney who qualified for School Director No. 2.

A. T. MacDonald, who was a candidate for school director but was eliminated at the primary election, has added his support to

WASHINGTON, May 1.—As European governments shivered today in anticipation of bloody strife and riotous May Day demonstrations, the great mass of American workers—fully employed at good wages—went about their own business and paid no attention to troubles overseas.

The American labor movement is not given to hysteria or the celebration of purely hysterical and emotional rites and symbolisms," declared Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, in announcing that—so far as his organization was concerned—there would be no demonstrations in the United States corresponding to those in Europe.

NO VIOLENCE EXPECTED IN ANY PART OF U. S.

Official reports reaching the department of justice from all parts of the country indicated no violence was expected, while Secretary of Labor Davis asserted that prosperity and general contentment among workers marked the advent of May Day in this country.

In past years the government's secret agents have been wamped with threats of bomb plots and other attacks, but this year all has been quiet.

In a special May Day statement written for International News Service, President Gompers said: "The American Federation of Labor has nothing alarming to announce for May Day. It is our hope that there may be many pleasant exercises throughout the country and that the children, young and old, will enjoy themselves around Maypoles and in strewing flowers."

WILMINGTON TRANSPORT WORKERS JOIN STRIKE

SAN PEDRO, May 1.—(United Press)—Officials of the I. W. W. marine transport workers announced today that 2200 men employed in the building of the Wilmington industrial site would leave today to throw their weight into the present shipping strike movement.

"There will be no parade," one leader is reported to have said last night. "If a riot starts, we won't want the I. W. W. to get credit for it. It is our intention to be orderly and conduct the day's activities without any violence."

Strike headquarters also claimed that oil workers from both Signal Hill and El Segundo would walk out, as well as all fishermen employed at the harbor.

Three automobiles, bearing mac-ards demanding the release of pol-

I. W. W. literature over the harbor district throughout the day.

Ship owners have denied the report that their men would walk out. They said if the strike is not definitely broken within two days active steps will be taken to break
it by the importation of strikebreakers.

HEELAN, DENYING BOOTLEG CHARGE, GETS SUSPENSION

Policeman, Claiming Case of Mistaken Identity, On Trial Today.

Pending decision by the Federal Court in San Francisco as to whether or not Special Policeman John Heelan, charged with "bootlegging," is a victim of mistaken identity, Heelan was temporarily suspended from the department last night by Chief of Police James T. Drew. His trial is set for today.

Possibly that Heelan, who was arrested by a prohibition agent last Friday, may have been mistaken for one of his brothers, was expressed today by Captain of Police Frank Lynch.

According to Lynch, one of Heelan's brothers was arrested some time ago for violation of the national prohibition act. Heelan, Lynch declared, has been in the police department a number of years and always has had an excellent record.

Following his arrest on Friday, after which he was released on bail by Commissioner Alfred M. Egan, Heelan told Captain Lynch he had been guilty of "bootlegging." Chief of Police Drew today said it had been necessary to suspend Heelan temporarily but, if exonerated in the Federal Court, he would immediately be reinstated.

Congratulations Sent by Oliphant

David D. Oliphant Jr., candidate for mayor, defeated at the primary election, today sent the following letter of congratulations to Mayor John L. Davis, re-elected:

"Allow me to congratulate you upon your re-election.

"With the completion of the recount before the Superior Court it appears that you received 84 votes more than a majority of the total vote cast on April 17. I am glad that the recent has demonstrated that Oakland is elect and reliable. Under these circumstances we all feel satisfied with the result. I am glad that the recent was demanded and still feel that it was justified in view of the closeness of the vote and the many reports which were brought to my headquarters.

"You have a right to feel proud of the large vote given you by the people of Oakland. The election has increased my desire to help Oakland become the leading city of the Pacific Coast and I am still enthusiastic for everything which tends toward its advancement."

PADEREWSKI RECORD IS OUT

Liszt's "Second Rhapsody" played by Paderewski, and Rimsky-Korakow's "Song of India" song by Galli-Curci, head the list of Victor records announced for May, together with Chaliapin's rendition of one of his most dramatic roles—that of Philip II in the opera "Don Carlos." Another striking one record is by John McCormick who sings "The Silver Thread."

Both Koussevitzky and Heifetz have received plaudits on the month's list—the former with one of his own compositions for children, "The Toy Soldiers March," and the latter with Dvorak's "Slavonic Dances No. 1, in G Minor," arranged by Kreisler.

Mussorgsky's "Kovanchina-Interlude," which depicts in music the passage of a condemned man through the streets of Moscow to the place of his execution, is interpreted by the Philadelphia orchestra in one of the new records.

The list of dance selections includes "Starlight Bay" and "Think of Me," fox-rolls, played by the Benson's of Chicago; "Way Down Yonder in New Orleans," and "Dearest," by the Paul Whiteman orchestra; the Virginians' "Parade," and "Applesauce" and "Whoa, Whoa," "Burning Sands" by the Whitemans, and "Dixie Whiz," "Bip" and "Slow, Little Someone," by the Ziegfeld Follies.

DESCRIPTION OF GUSTER'S LAST FIGHT IS GIVEN

Doctor With Crook Expedition Tells Legion Post of the Famous Battle.

A graphic description of Custer's last fight, of the detachment of American cavalrymen, completely surrounded, who fought until they were exterminated, was given by members of Oakland Post No. 5, American Legion, at their luncheon yesterday by Dr. C. E. McAllister.

The speaker is a regimental surgeon, former Second and Third United States Cavalry regiments, and was attached to the Crook expedition from which Custer's command was detached in the search for Sitting Bull.

"From time to time the papers carry an item to the effect the last survivor of Custer's last fight died," said Dr. McAllister.

"There were no white survivors from this battle. Only American soldier taking part in the engagement was killed with perhaps one exception, and with the exception of Custer, a captain and a soldier, no one of whom was in the place.

Dr. McAllister described the movement of all parts of the detachment, starting Bull and also described the battle from the viewpoint of the Indians who participated. As Indian agent at Pine Ridge for several years following the cessation of hostilities Dr. McAllister became very friendly with the Indians who had taken part in the battle.

They told him that Custer, with a force of about 200 men, had been surrounded and was opposed by Indians, and that there was no possibility of Custer escaping. The Indians attributed Custer's fate to justice, having been the man who originally discovered gold in paying out rations in the Black Hills, thus causing the breaking open of that territory to settlement by the whites.

REDDING, May 1 (By International News Service).—By a verdict of the fellow citizens in the little mining town of Lewiston, George L. Dickey was justified in killing George C. Givens, alleged affiant of Mrs. Dickey.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 1.—A big parade, preceded by exercises at the Dewey monument in Union Square and followed by a grand ball in the Civic Auditorium this evening, today commemorated the silver jubilee of the Battle of Manila Bay.

Today's program was participated in by veterans of the first famous naval battle of the Spanish-American War, including naval officers, both active and retired, and many former volunteers now in civilian life.

The celebration was held under the joint auspices of the First California Volunteers, the Dewey Association and a citizens' committee of 100, headed by Mayor Reinh.

Internal Unrest Alarms Russian Leaders, Who Suspect External Agencies.

By FRANCIS McCULLAGH, Special to the OAKLAND TRIBUNE, from WARSAW, via Berlin, May 1.—What is the explanation of the Bolsheviks' extraordinary nervousness during the last fortnight? Do not think it is an anti-Bolshevik plot, or foreign intrigue, for it has puzzled foreign missions and anti-Bolshevik Russians. The answer is that Bolshevism has got a bad internal shake, like a house built upon sand. The Reds, alarmed by the subsidence of their foundations and cracks in their walls, suspect an external agency, never dreaming to blame their own crazy architects.

The process may stop short of utter disintegration, because the Bolsheviks have no armed opposition to fear inside Russia; but it is difficult to say how far it will go, or what has caused it. For the Bolsheviks are isolating foreign missions and preventing information reaching them from Bolshevik Russian sources.

Such rumors often occur to Russia in the spring, both in real and metaphorical houses. A few weeks ago I lived in the top story of a once magnificent apartment house in Moscow, where, owing to a blockade of the drainage system due to the Bolshevik municipal muddle, the cellar had been full of water for five years with consequent danger of collapse every spring when the snow melts.

I was as glad to escape that house as from Russia, for its condition was symbolic of the Soviet's, and my position in a falling Soviet would have been as bad as in a falling house, for before the Red republic falls, there probably will be wholesale massacres of prisoners, and suspected foreigners. Just before I left Moscow the Cheka told me frankly I was under the deepest suspicion, showing me a bulky dossier crammed with spies' denunciations.

Besides the usual spring danger, when after a long winter, immobile, cold, hard and dead as Marxism, the vital, reckless sap of independent rises to the brains of oppressed men, there is the additional danger in Lenin's practical death—and it is the belief of many in Moscow that Lenin really is dead but that the fact is hidden. Such people mention the sudden cessation of bulletins and the mysterious return to Stockholm of the Swedish doctors.

RED VS. RED. Lenin's eclipse is the fall of the keystone from the arch. The Communists are now at loggerheads, and the mutiny at Stone Bridge barracks, near the Kremlin, a month ago was a case of Communist against Communist. Disputes between leading Communists apropos of the Moscow Communist party conference are carried on openly in the newspapers to the scandal of rigid Marxists.

The postponement of Patriarch Pudovkin's trial is further evidence of acute panic. As in a small way, were my arrest and expulsion and the subsequent attempt to stop me. All is characteristic of the present muddle and fright in the Cheka.

Unpopularity of the Communists in the provinces is so great that the Bolsheviks are denying they belong to the party. Wholesale arrests of Russians frequenting foreign missions are partly due to the Cheka's hope thus to get a clew to some plot wherein foreigners are concerned, as they did in previous conspiracies.

As there is no plot, they are weekly to get wrong clews from us who are crazed by solitary confinement and frightened by threats of death. Who may say anything, denounce for anybody. Thus the Cheka may be. Whom still more frantic, and perhaps may even let loose a Red terror which will do them no good but may lead to the Communists annihilating one another.

MOSCOW AWAVS CHAOS. Moscow is now like Pekin on the eve of the Boxer rebellion. Missionaries there expect chaos after Lenin's death, attacks by the Soviet's janissaries, and finally the Russian revolutionaries. I visited the Estonian mission, which was so beset with spies that no Russian ventured to call. Inside it reminded me of an Indian isolation camp, where worried doctors are glad of a white visitor—a contrast to the gay music and dancing when formerly the missions had nothing else to do.

I began to understand the situation

tion when it was explained to me that the military attaché's clerk Moscow thus is becoming a haven for the scum of the continents. Estonia, though not versed in diplomacy, were inclined to regard this as a breach of diplomatic etiquette. They also told me that the day before the Estonian consulate in Petrograd had been wrecked, that Consul Tamberg had been "executed with death, but had narrowly escaped, and a similar attack was expected by the Moscow mission.

The Estonians welcomed me with a rather feverish hospitality to luncheon, dinner and supper, explaining that the attack on the consulate had been made at the Soviet's instigation by Estonian Communists maintained in a palatial house by the Soviet, which similarly maintained gangs of exiled Letts, Lithuanians, Poles, Hindus, Germans and Americans in palaces on the English quay in Petrograd, or in Moscow.

WORLD SCUM THERE.

Indian Communists were in the gang that demonstrated outside the British mission in September at the Soviet's instigation; and if the British depart this gang is certain to be let loose upon them again, while the Soviet explains as usual that it is a voluntary expression of Russian public opinion.

WIFE WINS OWN
HOME TO AVOID
MATE'S MOTHER

Woman Justified in Leaving
When Man Keeps Mother, Rules Judge.

A wife who leaves the home of her husband when he demands that her mother be considered as a permanent member of the family cannot be charged with desertion, according to Superior Judge James G. Quinn.

This principle of law and human conduct was enunciated by the court late yesterday in the case of Sidney A. Albright, 5814 Adeline street, against Marie Albright, whom he sued for divorce alleging desertion. Mrs. Albright countered with a suit for separate maintenance on the same ground. She was granted $25 a month in the court's decree awarding her the

The testimony brought out that the Albrights were married in Burlingame November 14, 1915, and separated May 23, 1921. During the five years of their married life they lived with Albright's mother and sister. Finally the wife left her husband's home and communicated to him her readiness to return to him at any time that he would establish a separate household. She testified that she offered to go to work and help him support the mother, if necessary.

Albright, a clerk for the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, refused to leave his mother, the wife said, telling her that to do so would mean his mother's suicide and that he had chosen a sacrifice everything for her.

In rendering his decision, Judge Quinn said:

"All fairness should one party to a marriage try to compel the other to live with the parent or parents of either. It appears that the wife in this case could not get along with her mother-in-law. I cannot impose such a condition on a wife. I cannot blame the husband for wanting to take care of his mother. All men should do that. But he does not have to live with her at the expense of his wife. With the hope that this situation will improve and may be changed, I must deny a divorce and award separate maintenance to the wife."

VETERANS HOLD
AMERICANIZATION
DAY FETE AT PARK

Forty thousand people today celebrated Americanization Day at Idora Park, where Veterans of the Foreign Wars held their first annual observance of the day.

As a token of patriotic observance, patriotism and music which will culminate with a huge military ball tonight in the great Idora Park dance hall, the features of the celebration.

Veterans from the city and their families, friends and school children from the Oakland schools thronged the park to join the celebration.

The meaning of Americanization and the significance of American ideals was told by Judge Lincoln S. Church in a brief speech. He declared that in an annual Americanization Day when Americans could pride to count their national blessings will do much toward rendering the people of the nation of foreign ideals.

According to Charles F. Fisher, commander of the 1st I. I. Waterhouse post, which directly sponsored the celebration, the enthusiasm aroused will assure the observance of Americanization Day annually by the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

BENEFITS FROM ESTUARY TUBE ARE OUTLINED

Speaker Says Failure to Go Under Water Would Be "Industrial Suicide."

Characterizing possible failure to build a tube under the estuary, linking Oakland and Alameda, as "industrial suicide," and pointing out the benefits which he claims will result from such a project, Harry Squire, federal harbor engineer, yesterday addressed members of the Kiwanis club at their luncheon at the Hotel Oakland.

At the same time that Squire was speaking before this organization Leslie King, state harbor commissioner, was speaking in favor of the proposed tube before members of the Electric club in the same building.

TUBE LOWERS TAXES.

Some of the statements made by both speakers follow:

"The net cost of the tube will be approximately $4,000,000, paid for by both distributed over 20 years. The immediate increase in property values east of Webster street and the rapid industrial development that will follow will in itself add sufficient assessable values to at once take care of the difference in cost, and will eventually reduce taxes."

"The alternative bridge will cost approximately $2,000,000, which, excepting $700,000 available from previous bond issue, will be raised by a direct tax levy covering a period of three or four years. With no increased property values and no increased industrial development to pay the cost, a bridge will never be built."

"A bridge will always be an obstruction to navigation, will hold down property values and discourage the industrial development of the upper estuary."

"A tube or tunnel under the estuary solves the problem of an estuary crossing for all, and for all it is a permanent structure, good for all time. A bridge at best is only a temporary measure, and in all probability will become obsolete in ten or fifteen years, rendering the investment a total loss."

INDUSTRIAL SUICIDE.

"If a bridge is built 50 per cent of the cost will be spent in the East. But if a tube is constructed 85 per cent of the money will be spent for labor and materials right here in Alameda county."

"Alameda has offered the government 5200 acres of its waterfront for a naval base. If Oakland and the rest of the county are to reap the benefits that will naturally accrue to them from the naval base, they must provide means for uninterrupted traffic between the cities; otherwise the benefits will go to San Francisco. A tube will be the best means of communication between the cities."

"A huge grain elevator, located on the inner harbor near the Livingston street wharf, was built for the farmers of California. This is the natural shipping point and the enterprise had every promise of success."

"However, only one cargo of grain went out. Since then this large investment has lain idle. Why? Simply because the large ships have refused to pass the dangerous breakers which block the entrance to the inner harbor."

"Recently the farmers of California have petitioned the state harbor commissioners to construct another plant across the bay at San Francisco. And a new elevator is to be built."

"Shall this industrial suicide continue?"

SHOES KEEP MAN FROM BEING HOBO

"What's the matter, Dick? Never saw you so restless. You're waiting around like a small boy waiting for the teacher to let out school. What's the trouble?"

"Did you ever have a hard time breaking in a new pair of shoes? That's my trouble. It nearly kills me to wear new shoes. Stiff and hard, you know."

"Well, why don't you wear them at home an hour or so at a time? You get used to them. A half day at a stretch is enough to drive a man crazy. Don't know of anything worse than to have one's feet hurt."

"No, I can tell you. However, I got these shoes to wear and I'm going to wear them. I may be crippled for life, but I'll die game."

"You're the victim. Suffer if you want to, but if they were mine I'd leave them home and get into some old comfortable ones."

"I don't wear the shoes. Well, you are out of luck. Man, why don't you take a little trip to 528 12th Street and tell your troubles to Clermont's? They have just the clothes a man needs and they'll be glad to let you make monthly payments."

HOME BUILDING BY INSURANCE CONCERN S.O.K.D

Senate Passes Bill That May Lower Rents in Apartment Houses.

By E. VAN LIER KIRBINK. TRIBUNE BUREAU, SACRAMENTO, May 1.—A bill permitting insurance companies within the state of California to invest funds in the building and operation of apartment houses, but limiting them to charge not more than $8 a room, has been passed by the senate. The bill is sponsored by Assemblyman William Hornblower of San Francisco, and has been approved by the State Immigration and Housing Commission. According to Hornblower, the measure has proved a success in the states of New York and New Jersey, and has there helped to solve the rent problem substantially in view of the fact that many new four-room dwellings are now being rented to families in these states at a rental of $32 a month—an unprecedented figure in these days of high rents in eastern cities, it is claimed. According to Hornblower, the insurance companies are deriving a satisfactory income from these apartment houses, and he states that one large life insurance company has just completed construction of a mammoth apartment building. Heretofore, insurance companies in this state have been limited in the matter of investing their funds, to mortgages and securities approved by the state banking commissioner.

WOULD WORK CONVICTS A proposed bill to provide for the construction and rebuilding of California's highway system, and to pay these prisoners at the rate of $2.50 a day for their labor, is contained in a bill introduced today in the assembly by Assemblymen Walter J. Schmidt and Otto Emm. The bill provides that the prisoners shall earn their own keep out of the money paid them, and that two-thirds of the remainder of their earnings shall go to the dependents of the prisoners.

Among bills vetoed by Governor Richardson is the measure of Assemblymen B. S. Crittenden and Otto Emm, providing that absent voters may cast their ballots by mail. This bill is in line with the measure adopted last November by the voters of the state, and the governor has it clear in his communication to the assembly that he has vetoed the bill because of its technical defects, but that he will sign the measure after these defects have been corrected.

ON SANITARY GROUNDS Somewhat reminiscent of the famous bill prescribing the length of the sheets used in hotel bedrooms, is the bill of Assemblyman Alex McMillan of San Luis Obispo, which has been passed by the assembly, and which makes it an offense on the part of restaurant owners to use soiled table linen, napkins for the purpose of polishing the knives and forks, and wiping their hands. The bill was introduced on sanitary grounds.

The bill of Senator J. M. Inman of Sacramento, introduced at the request of the board of prison directors, and permitting the directors to fix the minimum term to be actually served by a convict after he has been in prison nine months, was sent back to the senate by Governor Richardson without his signature and approval. The convict must serve his entire minimum sentence under the present law before he is informed how much longer he is to remain in prison. Governor Richardson, in refusing his signature to the bill, that he believed that the interests of society are better served by the law as it now stands.

A bill of Assemblyman Robert of Los Angeles, empowering school trustees to establish nurseries in kindergartens, was "killed" in the assembly.

NON-CITIZEN TAX BILL IS DEFEATED

SACRAMENTO, May 1.—By a vote of 49 to 29 the Assembly today defeated a constitutional amendment by Scott, San Francisco, providing for the taxation of bonds and securities owned by non-citizen residents of California. The measure needed 54 votes, or a two-thirds majority, to pass.

Scott, pending for the measure, declared that there are more than $2,000,000,000 worth of negotiable paper owned by "visitors" in California, all of which is escaping taxation in this state.

The amendment authorized the legislature to adopt a method to reach these securities, making them subject to taxation, the revenue derived therefrom going to the counties.

Crittenden and Coombs opposed the measure, the former holding that such a law would influence residents to convert California stocks and securities into "foreign" paper, and the latter expressing the belief that the measure was unconstitutional.

PIGGLY WIGGLY All Over the World

Real Service

"Whoever could make two ears of corn or two blades of grass grow, where only one grew before, would deserve better of mankind and do more essential service to his country than the whole race of politicians put together."

—Swift.

It is the old story—the man who can make with the same energy, in the same length of time, two blades of grass grow where one grew before, has a greater value to society.

The same is true of the man who sells. The man who can sell one hundred pairs of shoes in a day is one hundred times more valuable than the man who can sell only one pair of shoes in a day.

In a PIGGLY WIGGLY store one hundred people can help themselves in the same length of time that it would take one person in any other store.

The PIGGLY WIGGLY system saves not only time, but it saves money, energy and health.

FORMER SPOUSE SENT TO PRISON

LOS ANGELES, May 1.—Philip Ainsworth, formerly husband of Barbara La Marr, motion picture actress, was sentenced yesterday to serve from 1 to 14 years in San Quentin penitentiary for violating probation given him

August 12, 1922, after he had passed a worthless check for $35 on a Los Angeles merchant.

When Judge Sidney N. Beau of the superior court imposed sentence Ainsworth broke down and sobbed.

"You are not on the stage now, and you may as well stop acting," said the court.

Ainsworth continued crying.

"Take him out," ordered the court, and a bailiff led the weeping man back to jail.

Ainsworth and Miss La Marr were married October 13, 1916, and separated December 7, the same year. They were divorced and Ainsworth remarried.

1100 CONVICTS GET CITIZENSHIP

CHICAGO, May 1.—(By Associated Press)—Two hundred men, paroled from seven state penitentiaries and federal prisons during 1922, earned $98,044, or an average of something more than $4 a day, according to a statement given out here by the Central Howard Association, to whom the men were made responsible.

Essential relief was rendered 1,100 men discharged from various prisons during 1922, and 954 ward boys were restored to homes and wholesome companionship.

In all, 2,454 men and boys were assisted in some way by the association during last year, 100 per cent of the men paroled by the association finished their paroles with credit.

The Central Howard Association, under the direction of its founder and superintendent, L. Emory Lyon, of this city, aims to work for the prevention of crime by better supervision of men on probation and parole.

Superintendent Lyon said: "Eight dollars covers the average cost of bridging the gap between the prison door and self supporting, self respecting citizenship. It is really worth while."

FREE SHOW FOR LITTLE ONES HAS CLEVER TALENT

One Feature Saturday at the American Theater to Be "Nth Commandment."

Saturday morning will be a big time in the life of the TRIBUNE-AMERICAN kiddies, as another free moving picture and juvenile show is to be put on especially for their benefit.

The American Theater will as usual have a fine picture to offer, being an advance showing of the "Nth Commandment," starring that dainty little actress, Colleen Moore. You'll be sure to enjoy it as you always do in watching her act in all her pictures. Owen Sweeten, accompanied by a number of this talented orchestra will have a treat in store for you which even promises to surpass the last one offered.

CLEVER JUVENILES BILLED

A number of The TRIBUNE's clever juveniles will appear in late songs and dances and a special feature act entitled "In a Chinese Tea Store," written by Beverly Leibey, director of TRIBUNE juveniles, and coached by Miss Ernica Claire Jahnigen will be sure to please you. A fine cast of performers are in it, including Vilma Bradbury, as "Cherry Blossom," a singer of Chinese ballads, Dorothy Matthews as "Oo-Long," proprietor of the tea garden, Kiptone Matthews and Arlina Jahnigen, as two little Chinese dancing girls, Shirley Ives as "Princess Singapoo," and Adele Leibey as "Ming Toy." One of the songs to be used in the act is "Singapoo," written by Maud Fulton, which is to be sung by Little Shirley Ives as "Princess Singapoo," and a cute little chorus of singing and dancing girls.

OTHER ACTS ON PROGRAM

Bernice Bumpon will sing "Top of Turver Town," Freda Benkis will appear in a waltz to a special dance, Dorothy Burke Dorothy Davis will appear in a boy and girl number, Harold Joseph Perry will sing "For the Sake of Auld Lang Syne," as only he can sing it, and Little Mickey Murphy, a new find of The TRIBUNE, will sing "Mickey O'Neil." He is only knee-high to a grasshopper, but waltz until you hear him sing. Doesn't this sound like a fine program?

The doors open at 9 o'clock sharp, rain or shine, and everyone is requested to keep his place in line. All members of the Aumt Union and 50,000 clubs are invited. A special invitation is issued to others who are kindly asked to bring all children under 10 years of age, and send their older brothers and sisters with them.

Shop Harding Dies At Washington Home

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Bishop Alfred Harding, head of the Washington diocese of the Protestant Episcopal Church, died at his home here last night after several weeks' illness.

Born at Lisburn, Ireland, in 1852, Bishop Harding came to the United States when he was 18 years old. He was educated at Trinity College, Hartford, Conn., and Berkeley Divinity School. His first charge was Geneva, New York, later going to Baltimore as assistant rector of St. Paul's parish. In 1887 he came to Washington and, until 1898, when he was consecrated bishop of Washington, he served as rector of St. Paul's church here.

Bishop Harding's illness had been diagnosed as heart trouble, aggravated by overwork.

SCOUTS' FOUNDER LAUDS MOVEMENT

SAN FRANCISCO, May 1.—The training of boys and girls for better fatherhood and motherhood was one of the subjects touched upon in a discussion by Robert Stephenson Smythe Baden-Powell, who arrived here yesterday from Portland, Oregon, before leaving here for Yosemite. He talked at length on the future of the Boy Scout movement and the Girl Guide movement of which movements he is the founder.

Baden-Powell has just completed a tour of Canada and is now on his way to New York and Boston.

Concerning the Boy Scouts and Girl Guides, Baden-Powell said:

"Though the Boy Scout organization is distinctly not a military movement, the value of the training a Boy Scout receives was demonstrated forcefully during the World War."

In England alone some 30,000 Boy Scouts believed that many men for active war duty, and thousands of our Girl Guides, as we call them, also did duty as messengers, sewing for the Red Cross and otherwise making the best use of their training.

So it will prove in any great national or international crisis. The Scout creed makes for resourceful, energetic, earnest, self-sustaining boys."

TO BUY OR NOT TO BUY —

The Business Man's Problem when considering the inventory needed to take care of anticipated business

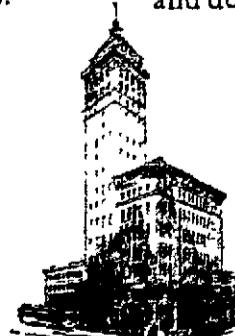

TODAY many business men are confronted with rising prices. While most salesmen do not have the backing of their houses when they urge that large purchases be made in anticipation of early price advances, yet the temptation to gamble in merchandise is often present.

Many business men who a year or so ago found themselves in an embarrassing position, realized, only too late, that merchandise was at the bottom of their financial troubles. Yet, there are times when it is advisable, and even necessary, to anticipate future needs and to materially increase inventories.

There is available in the Credit Department of THE OAKLAND BANK a vast amount of statistical information relative to the price trend in different industries and different lines of business. Business men of Oakland are welcome to this information.

When faced with the question of whether or not to increase their inventories, business men are cordially invited to consult the Credit Department of this Bank. Its members will gladly give the benefit of their judgment, based on years of experience in observing and analyzing the ebb and flow of business and noting the successes and failures due to increasing and decreasing inventories.

This is the fifth advertisement of a series. The sixth will appear in this paper a week from today.

MAN AND WIFE HELD FOR THEFT OF AUTOMOBILE

Roy Allen Revealed Fugitive Convict During Police Court Hearing.

Roy Allen, alias Dewey Hudson who, with his bride of a few months, were today held over to the Superior court on a grand larceny charge, is revealed as a fugitive from the Waupun penitentiary, Waupun, Wis., in information received today by Captain of Inspectors Richard McFerley. He was sentenced there under the name of Dewey Hudson, according to word from the warden of the penitentiary.

Allen and his wife, Meryl, whom he married September 3, 1922, he says, were arrested in Superior to remit and brought back here to face the charge of stealing an automobile in front of the Scottish Rite Temple.

Allen claims he was arrested in the east for alleged theft of a house and buggy belonging to his father, who tried unsuccessfully to have the charge dismissed. After three escapes from the county jail there, and as many captures, Allen says he was committed to the penitentiary and gave his occupation as a barber, and when sent to a camp of trustees, escaped because he did not know how to barber.

After a preliminary hearing in police court, Judge Ralph Richmond held Allen and his wife to the Superior court under bail of $2000 each. If not convicted here Allen will be sent back to Wisconsin to finish his term there.

The robber then sped away in the car, forcing Riley to leave his pocket containing $700 in collections.

The bandit is described as wearing an army officer's coat, dark gray and brown suit. He was about 5 feet 10 inches tall, weighed 160 lbs., and had a mustache. He had and an unusually prominent nose.

Ten Cents Reduction On Refined Cane Encourage Economy Workers.

SAN FRANCISCO May 1.—Visitors cheered by the success of their "economic lockouts" which are given credit for the reduction of 10 cents per 100 pounds in the price of refined cane sugar yesterday, San Francisco housewives today announced their determination to bring the price of the commodity all the way back to normal.

Yesterday's price cut was the first reversal of the sharp upward trend that began April 11. Prior to that time, sugar had been fairly stable at $9.40 per 100 pounds.

It rose to $10.45 and yesterday brought down to $10.35.

Officers of the San Francisco Housewives' League announced a mass meeting for Saturday afternoon at the California Club, to discuss the sugar situation. The case was sent out by Mrs. Andrew E. Neuenburg, president.

Grocers taking warning by the recent decline in their customers' demands, as a result of the "sugar strike" begun by the organization following advanced prices, were wary about placing orders for more sugar at present wholesale rates. Many firms asked that customers co-operate in saving present stocks, purchased when the market was normal, last as long as possible.

Beet sugar was also cut yesterday by the Spackels Sugar company from $10.50 to $10.10 per 100 pounds.

Water District Election

Water District Election

Emphasizing the fact that next Tuesday's election to form a water district is not an election to bond the district, Roscoe Jones, head of the water campaign committee to day issued an appeal to voters to study the question and vote favorably at the polls.

"Voters who put a cross in favor of the proposed district next Tuesday will not be voting to bond the district," said Jones. "They will merely be saying that they want the price of water as on the east side of the bay welded into one organization for the purpose of developing an adequate water supply."

"Formation of the district is the necessary first step toward a solution of our water problem. The problem is too large to be handled by any one municipality, so it is necessary to join all of them into a

RESPONSIBLE TO PEOPLE.

"After the district has been formed and the directors have been elected, it will be up to the service of water and the manner of providing it will be taken up and thorough discussed. The directors can be relied upon to take on the responsibility when a vote of the people and the directors are submitted to them."

We are confronted with facts not theories. The existing company does not claim all the possible local sources, and we are relatively informed by expert investigators that after 1930 the East Bay cities must cease to develop and expand unless new water is brought in. In the case of the city of the same to the west, the people themselves shall be in on this water or will let it to the existing company. We must have the water. The people are to decide how the water will be used, they will undertake the project."

Paper mills employing many thousands of workers would not be running in the East Bay if there had been a lack of water supply, according to Samuel C. Davis, former mayor of Berkeley, who spoke in favor of the water district at the Community school in Berkeley.

WATER VERSUS PARKS

"Water pays out more for water than does use from the spend on their parks, according to figures announced today by City Councilman A' Latham of Alameda, candidate for director of the proposed East Bay Water District.

Oakland pays $11,000 yearly, Latham, who is running as one of the "Own your own" five has just completed a resolution showing that Alameda pays out and only $24,200 in "ready to serve" charges to the East Bay Water Company. This is several thousand in excess of the amount expended on Alameda parks.

Altogether the East Bay cities pay $21,200 in such charges, while the rating of the state rail commission says Latham adds that the cost is $22,000. With mean per ownership of the water system, this charge would immediately vanish, he asserts.

I have a collection of figures on the "ready to serve" charge charge that of the cities in the proposed district. Oakland leads with $115,000, the others being:

Berkeley, $47,300; Richmond, $12,000; Piedmont, $55,000; San Leandro, $27,000; Emeryville, $22,000; Alameda, $100.

Naturally Latham said, this "ready to serve" charge increases the rates to the consumers, but he declares would be removed in the establishment of a municipal system.

"It the East Bay water district is formed, as proposed in the election next Tuesday," he said, "and the system is run by the East Bay Water Company is run by the public one of the very first results will be the reduction of the rates of every city within the district."

Every one of the eight municipalities staying to join the East Bay Council will be shown as a public service charge which was imposed by the California Railroad Commission on October 11, 1919.

Since that date an additional charge of 10 per cent has been made.

At the present, in the case of a water district takes over the East Bay Company, this charge will be removed at once, and the city taxes correspondingly reduced.

MOST VITAL NEED.

Water is the most vital need of the community and should be controlled by the people, in the opinion of Mrs. Bessie Wood Gustison candidate for director of the water district at the general election May 8.

I see the formation of the water district as a fundamental necessity," she said. "Nothing more important has come before the people of this time. We must get away the apathy that exists as to the formation of this water district. The people must realize that the water will be completely stopped after 1930 and perhaps much sooner unless we are soon wise."

SOUTH'S MYSTERY MURDER LAID TO UNREQUITED LOVE

Earle Remington's Death Is Bared in Alleged Confession of Jilted Girl.

LOS ANGELES, May 1.—(By International News Service)—With the purported confession of a pretty 23-year-old woman, officials today believed they had learned the true story surrounding the slaying here on the night of February 15 last of Earle Remington, clubman and asserted "Society bootlegger" who was shot down as he entered his St. Andrews Place home.

The name of the young woman is withheld for the present, but her confession was told to Chief Deputy District Attorney A. C. Keays by S. S. Hahn, attorney for the girl to whom she is said to have bared her soul.

The girl's confession in brief is that Remington was slain for love—her love; that they loved each other and then Remington's affections grew cold and he scorned her. Finally, with all the wrath of a jilted woman, she had two men friends assist her in trying to arrange a last interview with Remington. The trio trailed him to his home, where they waited for him. As Remington approached his house the two men asked him to go across the street, where the woman was waiting in an automobile, so the confession is said to go. Remington refused and the men shot him down with a sawed-off shotgun and then stabbed him as the girl who loved him looked on. The trio then fled in an automobile. The girl later became conscience stricken and to relieve her feelings told her story to Attorney Hahn.

However, the authorities faced a difficult situation today. It was that of the girl revealing the details of the crime but refusing the names of the two men who she says actually committed the murder for her sake.

Bulk of Estate Is Left to Sloan's Widow

William R. Sloan, retired capitalist of 1875 Harrison street, who died April 14, left the bulk of his estate of approximately $100,000 in trust to the widow and two daughters, according to the will just filed for probate.

The will provides for bequests of $250 each to the Roman Catholic Orphan Asylum of San Francisco; Protestant Orphan Asylum, San Francisco; Little Sisters of the Poor, Oakland; San Rafael Orphan Asylum; Salvation Army, Oakland. A bequest of $500 is left to Laura Brock Elder, of St. Louis, and an allowance of $25 a month to Anna M. Kierman, 73 Carmelita Street, San Francisco, a sister-in-law.

The residue of the estate is left in trust to the widow, Anna G. Sloan, and the two daughters, Margaret and Anna Sloan, who live at 1855 Harrison street.

Flavorings Plant Coming to Oakland

Announcement was made today of the establishment here of a branch factory of the firm of Furst & Co., of New York, N. Y., one of the largest concerns in the country manufacturing remedies, flavorings and toilet articles.

The plant will be housed at 426 Third street, between Broadway and Franklin streets, which will allow the branch establishment a floor space of 14,000 square feet. This unit will be used for the time being as a distributing agency, but the establishment of a factory in Oakland is planned.

F. G. Thomas, vice-president of the company, has come with his family to reside in Oakland and assume charge of the Pacific coast business.

MUNICIPAL OPERA STARTS IN S. F.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 1.—The first step toward the development of a permanent municipal grand opera organization has been taken with the first meeting of the 160 members of the court that will take part in the operas to be given from September 26 to October 11.

The members of the chorus met last evening in the studio of Natale Garofalo, signed the roll and arranged to start rehearsals next Monday under the direction of Gaetano Merola, musical director for the San Francisco Opera association.

The singers were addressed by Merola, who declared that their efforts were backed by a large number of influential music lovers.

Timothy Healy, chairman of the general committee of the San Francisco Opera association, also was a speaker. He sounded praise for the support the venture was receiving and hopes for a permanent organization.

It was announced that artists from the Metropolitan Opera company of New York had been secured for the principal roles, while the rest of the organization would be composed entirely of local talent. The operas will be presented in the Civic auditorium and the schedule includes "La Boheme," "Mefistofele," "Aida," "Tosca," "Manon," "Rigoletto," and the typyph of one act operas, "Il Tabarro," "Sero Angelico," and "Gianni Schicchi."

Wireless Chief's Child Sought by Radio

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., May 1.—

Kidnapped by a man who lured him away by offering to give him a rabbit, Verner Alexander, 6, son of E. F. W. Alexander, chief engineer of the Radio Corporation of America, is being sought by wireless all over the eastern part of the United States today.

The child disappeared from in front of his home, where he was playing with his two sisters yesterday. He has been traced to Albany, where the police today are making a search for him.

Meanwhile, the radio, in the development of which the boy's father has played a prominent part for years, is broadcasting his description, asking all who hear the call to aid in the search.

The kidnapping evidently was carefully planned. The abductor's description was given in detail by Edith Almenender, 11, one of the boy's sisters, with whom he was playing when coaxed away. The man had promised repeatedly, she says, to get them some rabbits. Yesterday he stopped again and informed the children that the "bunnies" were ready.

"You little girls go and fetch a box for the bunnies," he said. "Verner and I will go down the street and get them." Edith and Gertrude went for the box. The last they saw of their brother he was marching away, hand in hand with the man.

Brother Accused With Using Fraud

Accusing her brother, William House, of Pinerillville, with using fraud to secure an assignment of $25,000 in cash from his mother a few hours before her death, Mrs. Margaret Conroy has filed suit to recover the amount and get title for an injunction to prevent her brother from disposing of the money.

The suit recites that Mrs. Margaret Conroy, the mother, died on April 28 at 3 a. m. and that it was just a few hours previous to her death that the son succeeded in getting the old lady to assign to him the cash to keep.

House, it is claimed, then went to the bank, showed the assignment and transferred the money to his own account, withdrawing $750 of the amount.

POISON

WHEN the corner druggist sells wood alcohol, carbolic acid, bichloride of mercury, nitrobenzol or lead acetate he puts upon the bottle a red skull and crossbones and a warning: "Poison!"

The corner bootlegger sells all those poisons—and more besides—under the labels of "Old Scotch Whisky," "Old Rye," "Imported Gin."

The LADIES' HOME JOURNAL sent a man to find how hard it is to buy booze under prohibition. He found it so easy that he could have stocked a saloon in a single day in any city he visited.

In New York, Chicago, Kansas City, Philadelphia, Richmond, Alexandria, Frederick, Baltimore—wherever he went—the bootleggers sold to him openly—even fought for his trade.

What will he find when he visits Oakland?

"Old stuff," the bootleggers called their hooch; "smuggled in from Canada or Cuba," with labels that were known before prohibition.

Actually it was poison!

Chemists analyzed it for The Journal and found it loaded with Death.

Yet men and women are drinking it.

Along with the report of The Journal's investigator, United States Surgeon General Hugh S. Cumming tells how bootleg kills.

Before prohibition, he says, the government assured the purity of bonded liquor. There is no safeguard on hooch. How shall we save the lives of our people?

Feet of Clay

Before Margaretta Tuttle wrote Feet of Clay she played with the fun-hunting rich on the Maine coast and she paraded with the foot-weary models in an exclusive Fifth Avenue dressmaking shop . . . Just what her heroine does . . . Though its plot lies deep in the problem of the married woman with a job outside the home, Feet of Clay is no dull problem novel—it startles with life, it sparkles with wit, it breezes with fashionable energy . . . Beginning in the May issue.

Out on The Lonely Road—the title of Appleby Terrill's brilliant short story—lived a man and his three little daughters. Past on The Lonely Road came a beautiful lady in a blue racing car. The children loved her, and the man — You'll love the story.

A vividly picturesque story in a vividly colorful setting—that is But Once an Emperor, by Emma-Lindsay Squier. Illustrated by Soulé.

Perhaps you know a man like Pop Henderson—well liked, ambitious, but a failure. Perhaps the reason is like that in Edith Barnard Delano's poignant story, The Gods and the Machine.

She was a girl in an animal show—that's why they called her The Lady of Lions. A story in Albert Payson Terhune's most popular manner.

Also Randolph of The Courier, by William Harper Dean; The Hawkeye, by Herbert Quick; and It was Written in Galt, by Philip Curtiss.

Does Your Husband Hate Your Clothes?

The other Saturday afternoon we had to wait an hour in an exclusive men's club thirty minutes from Broadway. It was around six o'clock and during the hour at least fifty women came in to join their husbands for dinner.

One woman wore tan woolen stockings with black satin slippers.

Another had on a black silk crêpe sleeveless dress, embroidered all over in white, and topped with a semi-sports red straw hat.

Two had inebriate-looking cloche hats of obscure origin—but to go on is only to pile on the agony.

There wasn't a well-dressed woman in the room.

They were horrible examples of money spent wrong. THE LADIES' HOME JOURNAL is spending thousands of dollars each year to get and to publish absolutely authoritative fashion information.

Don't make the mistakes these women made—get the May LADIES' HOME JOURNAL.

In it you will find everything from the newest lingerie to a "movie" of a correct vacation wardrobe.

The fashion information in The Journal is so smart that anything shown is good for two seasons at least.

What Do Your Children Learn at Sunday School?

In millions of homes at Sunday dinner, father or mother inquires of Willie and Edna: "Well, what did you learn at Sunday school today?"

And Willie and Edna squirm feebly and answer: "Aw, nothin'!"

Six times out of nine they are right. An untrained, unprepared teacher, a lesson about Sennacherib or Uzziah, a few worse-than-meaningless songs—and the net result is boredom, indifference, contempt, and a determination on the part of the children to quit Sunday school and church at the earliest possible moment.

The religious education of young America is too important a matter to be handled in a slipshod, inefficient, money-grabbing manner. . . . If you doubt this read Charles A. Selden's article on page 31 of the May Journal.

Other articles of special timeliness are:

• Flapperdames and Flapperoosters, by Freeman Tilden, a humorous study of flapping grandmothers and aged lounge lizards.

600 CASES OF WHISKY TAKEN IN TWO RAIDS

Imported Scotch Is Seized by Federal Officers in S. F.; One Arrested.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 1.—Following the seizure yesterday by police and federal agents of 600 cases of bonded Scotch whisky, valued at $67,600, the latest development in San Francisco's booze war, search was under way today for the owners and members of the crew of the vessel which is believed to have brought the liquor into this port.

The booze confiscated yesterday was landed Saturday from the gasoline schooner "Hajspor II," which put into Drake's bay out of fuel, according to C. H. Wheeler, chief field deputy of the prohibition department.

Yesterday's operations by the police and federal men bring the total liquor seizures over the weekend to 1402 cases of whisky, representing a value of more than $140,000.

The first seizure yesterday was made at 450 Twenty-sixth avenue, in a garage under an apartment owned by Joseph Calvin. Calvin informed the officers he had no connection with the whisky, having rented the garage sometime ago to a man by the name of Davis. Early yesterday a neighbor noticed a loaded motor truck back into the garage. Patrolman Edward McDealt was informed. The raid followed.

From the garage Wheeler and Prohibition Agent Henry Toft went to Duboce avenue to investigate a report. While passing a blacksmith shop at 59 Duboce avenue the officials were attracted by a conversation. Looking through a crack they saw a half-loaded truck. Wheeler obtained a search warrant and when he returned he and Toft formally seized 300 cases of Scotch whisky and the truck. W. L. Dunn, a San Francisco contractor, who disclaimed knowledge of the whisky, was arrested.

According to Wheeler the whisky seized at both places was a portion of the same shipment from Vancouver, B. C.

REFI IN VIII PAY 30 BILLION MARKS AS REPARATIONS

New Settlement Plan Also Provides for 99-Year Non-Aggression Treaty.

BERLIN, May 1.—(By the Associated Press)—Germany's new program for a settlement of the reparations tangle, which leaders believe, will propose the flat payment of 30,000,000,000 gold marks, the promulgation of a 99-year non-aggression pact signed by the Rhine powers, and the establishment of a Franco-German industrial entente.

The specific items on the program, which receives its final approval by government officials today, before it is transmitted to the allied governments and to Washington, have been closely guarded by Chancellor Cuno and those immediately around him. Political leaders who have been in close touch with the government since it decided to take advantage of the wedge offered by Lord Curzon's recent speech, express the opinion that these three points are to be the leading features of the new offer.

In these quarters it is said that as alternatives the German government would suggest submission of the whole question to the judgment of impartial economic experts or would be willing to have new proposals subjected to the scrutiny of a neutral jury upon which Germany would be represented.

Speakers to Explain Water-Tube Problems

At a special meeting to be held at the Merchants' Exchange this evening, speakers will present facts in connection with the water district project and the "Tube the 12th" movement, which has been voted on at the coming election.

The meeting was arranged at the request of many business men, who admitted that they are ignorant of the facts involved and would appreciate an opportunity of listening to their presentation. An invitation has been extended to Oakland business men and to the public generally.

Six Men Arrested In Bootleg Raids

Six alleged bootleggers were arrested last night by the special service squad when three soft drink parlors were raided. The raids were made under the direction of Captain L. W. Brock, the members arrested are: Chet Martin and Al Sheehan, 355 Franklin avenue; Thomas R. Foley and Gene Dorris, 355 San Pablo avenue; and L. A. Laricks and James Riley, 722 Broadway. A small quantity of liquor was obtained as evidence against the men.

"Doctors" Bill Vetoed Because of Ambiguity

SACRAMENTO, May 1.—Governor Richardson gave the members of the state senate a chance to laugh their cares away, when he returned without his approval yesterday a bill requiring doctors to have their door signs indicate words showing from what college they graduated in medicine, and what other professional training they had. The text follows:

"To the Senate of the State of California:

"The misuse of the word 'doctor' has led in the past to much confusion and many abuses. When the name 'Dr. Will Heale' appears on an office door, on a card, or in a newspaper advertisement, it cannot be determined whether he is a dentist, a chiropractor, an osteopath, a corn doctor, a doctor of philosophy, a horse doctor, a nature cure doctor, or a 'regular' M. D. This is a condition which should be righted and S. B. 331 seeks to do it. The bill attempts to regulate the use of the word 'doctor' and prohibits its use in advertising on doors, signs or in newspapers unless accompanied by words showing 'educational qualifications,' 'attainments,' (whatever that may mean), and 'degrees upon which such title is based, and also the name of the school, college or university that conferred the degree.'

"I am strongly in favor of the general purpose of this bill and of letting the people know the kind of a doctor they are patronizing.

OPPOSITION SPRINGS UP.

"I am ready to concede the argument advanced by the M. D.'s in favor of this kind of a law. This bill passed the senate and assembly without opposition, but after its adoption strong opposition began to spring up from various sources. This opposition ranges from 'regular' M. D.'s to newspaper publishers and from optometrists to chiropractors. The opposition claim they were unaware of the nature of the bill and had no opportunity to oppose it before the legislature.

"One 'regular' writes that he has been practicing many years, but that his college long since ceased to function as a medical school, and that he is compelled to advertise as a graduate of a religious school of a sect to which he does not belong. Another 'regular' says he is a graduate of a California school, and has been practicing for many years, and that to compel him to name his school would put him at a disadvantage with some other professional practitioners.

"The Christian Scientists through their state committee, object on the ground that they have no school and hence cannot comply with the law. This committee says that in the opinion of counsel it prohibits the use of the title Christian Science practitioner or the abbreviation C. S. P. or C. S. D. for Christian Science practitioner.

"The advocates of the bill also claim it will increase the amount of advertising done by doctors and that is one of the purposes of the bill. This might be the result. A number of publishers, however, have protested against the bill chiefly on the ground that section 5 contains a statement establishing the presumption that any doctor who advertises is therefore guilty of misrepresentation, imposition and fraud. Section 5 says:

"This act shall be known and referred to as the act to protect the numerous all the titles and colleges of the various doctors.

PROTESTS ARE MADE.

California makes the matter of such importance to us as to ask your veto of the bill!

"Leading advocates of the bill

say that the Christian Scientists can practice, as they are a religious body not affected by the medical laws. This is true regarding the practice of healing, but this bill relates to advertising and not to healing.

TUESDAY, MAY 1, 1923.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

The four hundred and fifty boys and girls who marched out of their classrooms yesterday
while the Hawthorne school was blazing demonstrated the value of fire drills and the stuff of which the present generation is made. Within two minutes after the alarm had sounded all of the children and teachers were out of the building and in a place of safety.

The burning of a school cannot fail to shock the community. Oakland today is thankful to those responsible for the establishment and continuation of the fire drill system and to the teachers who kept their heads and marshaled their charges out of the burning building. A single slip, one false move or a startled cry, a single person who did not measure up to the requirements of courage and self-possession—and another and pathetic story would have been written.

The Hawthorne school was one of the relics of other days. Fortunately, there are not many of its kind in the Eastbay. The method of its removal is a strong argument for the building of adequate and fireproof structures. Those children and teachers who marched to safety yesterday when the flames were moving into the hallways deserve the protection of a modern building.

FIFTH INDUSTRIAL STATE.

California enterprise and the development of trade with the Orient and through the canal have forced the world to look upon this State in a new light. We are still pre-eminent in our diversity of agricultural products; we are still first in climate and scenery and our area, irrigation facilities and soil guarantee that our crops will continue to command first attention.
The new development is industry.

This State is now fifth in importance among the industrial states of the Union and the rapidity with which it is developing is regarded as the outstanding phenomenon in the business world. With a continuance of this growth great changes will come to the cities of the Coast and to those districts which supply the produce shipped out of the harbors.

There is already talk of the establishment of a part of the Federal Department of Commerce in California. The Navy's needs for a base here are recognized. In increasing numbers those manufacturers who receive their raw materials from across the Pacific are establishing factories to produce the finished product in California and those other manufacturers who have centered with plants in the East are erecting plants on this Coast.

the life of the man affords inspiration to youth and is proof of the opportunities which come to the energetic and ambitious. The blunt and emphatic native of Norway conducted himself in office and wrote a record of a kind men like to call typically American. He refused to be bluffed or bulldozed when his decision was made. As soldier in the Civil War, member of the United States Senate, and upright citizen he served conspicuously the country of his adoption.

TO RESTATE THE LAW.

At last a definite and promising step has been taken toward removing the law's complications, uncertainties and delays. The announcement made yesterday that the Carnegie Corporation had given $1,075,000 to the American Law Institute to promote the clarification and simplification of the law and its better adaptation to the needs of life is considered by leading legal authorities as making possible the most ambitious work ever undertaken by the profession in any country.

The American Law Institute is a new organization; the work it proposes to do long has been recognized as needed. It was just a year ago that forty of the foremost lawyers of the country, under the leadership of Elihu Root, formed a committee to investigate the causes of the law's uncertainties and the possibility of establishing a permanent organization to fulfill the public obligation of the profession to promote the administration of justice. This committee, after months of research, urged the establishment of the Institute and declared its task should be the restatement of the law. On February 23, at a meeting of members of the legal profession in Washington, the report was considered. The Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court and twenty-one State Chief Justices, representatives of the principal bar associations, faculties of the law schools and two hundred other leading members of the bar were specially invited.

Common law has been created by the decisions of the courts. Its principles, not having the rigidity of a statute, may be modified by the courts to meet new conditions as they arise.
Within limits this mobility makes for justice in the individual case, but for many years there has been increasing uncertainty as to what the law is.

One does not have to be a lawyer to understand the causes for this. There are forty-eight states and the Federal Government, each with a separate system of courts. Every reported decision of a court is more or less of a legal precedent. In 1922 nearly 200,000 pages of reports of decisions of courts were added to the already huge mass of American legal precedent.
The time has come when students of our legal institutions have expressed the fear that, unless there is a restatement of the law, the system which has been developing by decisions, will be in danger of breaking down.

What is proposed is a restatement and not a codification. The work will be done by an institute representing the courts, the bar and the faculties of the leading law schools. To codify the law would give it a rigidity which would prevent its adaptation by the courts to new conditions. The restatement, if it is successful, will be an authoritative statement in the sense that the decisions of the highest courts are authoritative as legal precedents.

The money which is made available for the work will be given over a period of ten years.
It is thought that, by that time, many of the most important topics can be completed and that the value of the Institute will have been demonstrated. Elihu Root, George W. Wickersham, Benjamin N. Cardozo and George Wellum Murray are officers of the Institute.

It will be seen that the magnitude of the task will work against any immediate results.
At the same time it is one of the strongest arguments for an early start.

FISHING SEASON OPENS.

This is the day of the May-pole and the fish-pole.

What flowers and ribbons and dancing mean to youth, and more satisfying than pageantry and pageants to the children of men. The sun

sun that warms the hills and brings the blossoms steals from the minds of men the incentive toward work. The windows of office buildings become populated with faces staring toward the mountains or the sea. The line of man's thought is a line of highway, the goal of his ambition a seat beside a stream.

Until May first arrives there is no antidote for spring fever—or, if there is, it is protected by the law. Today the ban is lifted, the trout season is open and the landscape is filled with the motion of automobiles climbing the slopes to the mountain rivers. It is fishing time in California and that means spring's unrest is to be cured for the average man with spring's own remedy.

A man who made derogatory remarks about the Texas legislature has been sent to jail.
Thus is one more blow struck at popular sport.

Adequate punishment for the marathon dancers would be to make them repeat the performance and never once change the record.

Ambassador Harvey is not the only American who would go so far as to wear knee breeches to see a royal wedding.

consisting of city directories, bank of ancient vintage, etc., etc. They will look lovely with the firelight

on the job and furnishes the firelight.

We have received the following from one of our two favorite American playwrights:

Sir: Here's my list of the ten books I'd choose to be left flat
with on a desert island:

"Her Husband's Wife," by A.
E. Thomas.

"The Rainbow," by A. E.
Thomas.

"Just Suppose," by A. E.

"Little Boy Blue," by A. E.

"The Black Flag," by A. E.

P. S.—They're plays—but so's Shakespeare.

We will form one of a company of 1,000,000 contributors to put in $1 each and buy that desert island at once.

The sooner it is filled with anthors, the better for the mainland.

For you can never tell when some author is going to pull something calculated to corrupt the mind of the public.

The things that seem the most innocent are apt to have quite terrible meanings if you turn loose on them the sot of mind that finds that sort of meaning.

And so many of our current Reformers seem to have exactly that sort of mind.

We are not as much afraid of books corrupting growing boys as we are of them spoiling the minds of the adult.

Almost any half dozen high school boys picked at random from any community on the continent are capable, if they should, take the notion to cut loose, of pulling a line of talk that would shock five hundred average adult authors to death in an hour. They don't spring it all the time, or, indeed, very frequently . . . and they have sense enough not to take it as seriously as adults seem to do.

Poetry Societies are springing up all over the country like . . .
the Wild Fire. There is a Texas Poetry Society . . . we suppose they have a Poet Larist . . . a Memphis organization, a Poetry
Guild in Philadelphia, a Springfield, Mass., Poetry Society; and there are Poetry Societies in Charles Town and Savannah.

"A Poetry Society," Fothergill lunch told us yesterday, "is an incubator for Society Poets."

But the poor little devil is getting smartified about the matter merely because he is jealous.

Up to date Fothergill's own free verse has not gathered him anywhere either socially or poetically.

Free Verse: poetry that has left home to Live Its Own Life.

Among the books Bound in Red

"Fairy Particles," by C. E. Montague, published by Doubleday, gilt, it is a very handsome volume. After we got about two hundred more red volumes from the publishers, we will be in a receptive attitude for books bound in green.

MINI DRILL LINE BY CHILDREN OF OAKLAND SCHOOLS

Queens, Maypoles, Wreaths and Folk Dances Figure in Big Fete.

With the possible exception of the fact that few of them asked their mothers to call them early, Oakland school children today celebrated May Day in the fashion that has been traditional in English-speaking countries for hundreds of years. There were queens of the May, and maypoles and folk dances and wreaths at virtually every grade school in the city.

One of the first of the schools to perform the ceremony that is supposed to usher in the spring was the Campbell, at Fourth and Grove streets. Under the supervision of Miss Cecilia Cullum, playground director, and Miss Mary Campbell, principal of the children of the four primary grades at the school presented a maypole dance and all that goes with it in the school grounds.

Little Mabel Ferreira, a six-year-old member of the first grade, was formally crowned queen, while Willie Ambrose, also six and a first-grader, was chosen to act as her royal consort.

The maypole had 24 streamers and the dances in connection with it included "Black Mag," one of the oldest English May dances known, as it was danced by the children in the old English costume associated with the dance for centuries.

Numerous other folk dances were given, together with songs and vocal and instrumental exercises by the children.

'DAUGHTER' NAMED AFFINITY

The eternal triangle now angles is afforded in allegations made by Mrs. Addie R. Nistic against Ira H. Nistic, a typewriter employee at the University of California printing shop. The wife named as an alleged affinity is Dolly Dohbols, also known as Dolly Nistic and Dolly Dohbols, who is herself a printer and who formerly resided on Pinehaven road.

The peculiar angle of the triangle is that Nistic, who is past 30 years of age, claims that the alleged affinity is his daughter by a former marriage, but the wife, who married him December 16 last, denies this. Mrs. Nistic charges infidelity and names Dolly Ernest and the time and place as April 11, Echo street, Oakland, on April 16 and 17. Mrs. Nistic says she was separated from her husband two days previously on April 14.

In addition to the above charges Mrs. Nistic says her husband has ignored her since their marriage, would refuse to speak to her for periods or would call her a "bitch" and other names. She claims her husband January 21 in some kind he had purchased in Piedmont, the wife says, and waited for him to return, but he left for the ground until she recovered and got up herself.

Mrs. Nistic asks to be given a full alimony.

STOLEN BOOK IS ON SALE AGAIN IN HALF HOUR

BERKELEY, May 1.—To have a philosophical book stolen from a place in the college library during its absence and then a half hour later to find the same volume for sale is a Berkeley book store was the novel experience yesterday of Miss Ruth Meyer, 3355 Cedar street, freshman student at the University of California.

The book was a valuable volume on psychology and Miss Meyer was using it to study for final "exes" when it was taken from beneath her eyes.

Miss Meyer went to a second-hand book store near the university campus to buy a substitute volume. She was offered a green book with a big ink drop on the cover. The book in general and the ink drop in particular looked strangely familiar and she investigated further. She discovered that the proprietor had purchased that 24 minutes before from a young woman.

The Berkeley police were called and who confessed the book had been sold and a confession obtained. The guilty co-ed will be forced to make explanations before the women's student affairs committee.

Miss Meyer received her book and resumed her studies.

GERALDINE FASHIONS

Listen, World

I'm going to put this case up to you, folks. Irving and Betty are both friends of mine. Betty is a darling, pretty as a May morning and as popular. Irving is a fine youngster, just getting his start in the world. He has had rather a hard scramble, but things are looking clearer now. In a year or so we won't have to count the pennies so carefully.

And now the plot thickens, as plots have a way of doing. Irving invited Betty to the theater. Betty "adores" the theater. She loves to dress in her spiffiest gown, with her admirer's orchid pinned to her new fur coat, to ride in the fastest taxi, and sit in a seat well toward the front while the admiring world files by. No, she's not conceited or proud; just a normal, happy hearted little girl on pleasure bent. So of course she'd go with Irving to the theater and thought him a dear for asking.

The night arrived. So did Irving. But horrors! There was no orchid. Worse yet, there was no taxi! They rode down town in the street car. Betty was very silent. She had a queer, tight feeling in her throat. Street cars were nothing new in her life. She rode on them every day, carelessly, joyfully. But never, never before had she been "invited out" to ride in one. If any of the crowd should see her! She swallowed her chagrin, however, and prepared to enjoy the play. But one more blow awaited her, a blow which ultimately ruined the whole evening as far as Betty was concerned. Irving had bought seats upstairs! She sat through the play in a horrid blur of resentment. "The stingy, mean thing!" she whispered to herself with a little choke of rage. "I'll never go out with him again!"

She never has, although Irving has asked her several times. He cannot understand her attitude, although he knows she's taken offense at the street car and the balcony seats. "But why wasn't that all right?" he asks in bewilderment. "She knows I'm just getting on my feet, that I'm not rich. Doesn't she want a fellow to be sensible instead of showing off and spending beyond his means?" I like her better than anyone else, and she knows it. Why can't she be willing to help me be careful?"

But Betty doesn't understand. Neither do her friends. The male contingent are particularly indignant. "The cheap skater!" they say. "The tightwad! The piker! Asking a girl out and giving her a deal like that! Why did he invite her at all if he couldn't give her a regular home?"

So—that's the story. What do you think of Irving?

(Copyright, 1923)

You'll like the tolerance in the following letter, friends. Yes, she's inclined to be a blessed little sentimental, but what does it matter, if thereby she manages to spread her kindness all over the gang?

"Dear Geraldine,
"Just a few lines in regard to the two letters of 'The Wanderer.' They interested me, and while I may be mistaken and you right, I must confess I found much to admire in them.

"In the first letter he frankly states that he knows his outlook on life to be bad. He also adds that he would be grateful to have it changed. I really think, after the terrible war experience that the man has been through, that he is much in need of sympathy, love, and understanding. To make it short, I think his bark is worse than his bite—by far.

"I for one, find much to sympathize with in his present situation. He has been through a terrible situation and I think the man has been through that he is much in need of sympathy, love, and understanding. To make it short, I think his bark is worse than his bite—by far.

"So cheer up wanderer and get a fresh grip on life. The ladies aren't half as fickle as you think. Don't judge all by a few. I think any soldier who has fought for his country deserves the highest praise.

"Probably Wanderer has been unfortunate in meeting the wrong class of girls. I too, detect a masculine woman and a feminine man. Wanderer has probably seen too much of one kind of women and not enough of the other. This is the first time I have written to the Geraldine column, but I have been a reader of it for a long time. It first struck me that the woman's name is retained as well as the man's. For instance when Senorita Pacheco marries Senor Galindo she becomes Senora Pacheco de Galindo. When the children arrive they are given the man's name, minus the "de" and "s" which are reversed—Galindo Pacheco. So far, so good. But now the children are to marry, and then in their turn will have more children. They cannot pile up names indefinitely. The mother's name is accordingly dropped after the first generation.

"Time is saved, legal documents shortened and made more easily available in case of reference and so on the worse. Surely not Senora Pacheco de Galindo. For neither an excess of names or a lack of names are going to alter that lady's place in history one iota.

"Hoping the Wanderer will continue to do well and bring success to his good ones—

"A former working girl who is now a YOUNG MOTHER."

"I was unable to forward your letter to 'Wanderer,' Pal, as I do not know his address. I was forced to open it, as we cannot take the responsibility of forwarding sealed communications even when we do have the address, and I smiled when I read it. I am sure he is a sentimentalist! It matters not to you that this man throws mud on the reputation of every woman who works outside the home and that he makes contemptible use of his war record to defend himself—

"As long as he puts up a sad story you're right there with the willing tears! Dear, dear little girl, can't you see that women like you, with your unbridled sentimentality and lack of any fundamental sense of justice or logic are the very ones who have brought the name of womanhood to such terrible disrepute? Can't you see that 'Wanderer's' outrageous abuse of all women who do not conform to his narrow standard (although they may be waging most valiant fight to care for their homes and children) nullifies any possible merit in his war record? He couldn't help going to war. The country made him. But if he truly did 'fight for his countrymen' out there in those horrible trenches, then he would be the last to fling abuse at them now. No soldier who is worthy of the name launches an abusive attack against the women of his nation."

"Polka, consider the case of Nancy McNeil. Jane Dixon is lauding about her over in the other column. If you were Nancy, McNeil, who does the gorgeous posters and magnifico covers. Instead of plain blue, Mrs. Foley Smith would you insist on keeping your own highly illuminated name in steel or using your own name as a three-candle-power shipping tag?"

"At once the Furions Feminists respond—'Keep our own names'

He Couldn't See

Jim Dunning—
Was a traveling man—
Whose line of work meant up and go—
Most every day—
It seemed he never could sit down—
And read a book—or smoke—
Before a cheerful evening grate—
He was forever catching trains—
And making Pullman reservations—
And howling loud when he must take an upper—
The fates seemed very cruel to Jim—
When they selected him to be—a tramp—
A wanderer for his living—
For every changing scene was but a bore—
So, feeling that he was misplaced—
In such a craft,
He grew morose and seldom smiled—
He hated little sleepy towns—
Where yokels yawned—
His only interest—his next stop—
Where he was ever on the hop—
To land big orders for his firm—
Then dash to catch another train—
At intervals of months apart—
Jim landed in his own home town—
And his wife sorely envied him—
That he could travel here and there—
And see the beauties of the world—
So Jim resolved to prove to her—
The dismal life that he must live—
He'd take her right along with him—
For just one trip—
And that would cure her for all time—
So Jim's wife dolled herself up nice—
Her tired eyes dancing with delight—
But Jim warned her it was to be—
A very long and tiresome trip—
But to his wife it was so new—
An ever changing opal world—
For all her married life her dreams—
Had been of making such a trip—
And so each time the train slowed down—
While going through a sleeping town—
She woke Jim up to see the lights—night dancing—
And Jim growled low and then once more—
Sank deep into a dismal snore—
She greeted each bend in the road with girlish glee—
Each new-born day to her—
No beauty spot escaped her eyes—
She said earth was a paradise—
Great mountains banked the canyon wall—
Jim never saw—nor looked at all—
While tears of joy streamed down her face—
At every nature luring place—

Some view the beauty spots in life—
With thoughtful mind—
While others grope through miracles—
Stone blind.

CLARICE PATTERNS

It's Soon Time for Pretty Bungalow Frocks.

(No. 1741)

And now's the time to make them. You'll agree that the patterns for which cut in sizes 36, 40, 44 and 48 inches bust measure, makes it a most desirable frock for very warm days and for the woman who knows very little about the art of sewing. For the dress as shown in the sketch in 36-inch size, 3 1/2 yard 14-inch contrasting is required. Price 5c, stamps or coin.

Of course, wash fabrics are the best to use for simple frocks of this type and if you buy the least expensive ones, you can have many frocks instead of one or two. Among those that cost little per yard are percale, gingham and chambray.

Pop was smoking with a satisfied expression, saying I think I will figure it out, just as a matter of curiosity. And he thought to himself a little saying, Yes gods tobacco in its various forms costs the albatross 2 dollars a week, that's $ dollars a month, almost a hundred dollars a year. BOOBIOLOGY ACT TAKES HONOR ON PANTAGES BILL

Team of Funmakers Captures Applause On Big Stunt Program.

Two pretentious music and comedy acts feature this week's program of vaudeville and motion pictures at Pantages, but the applause honors went to Morgan Davis and LuLu McCoy in "Bits of Boobiology."

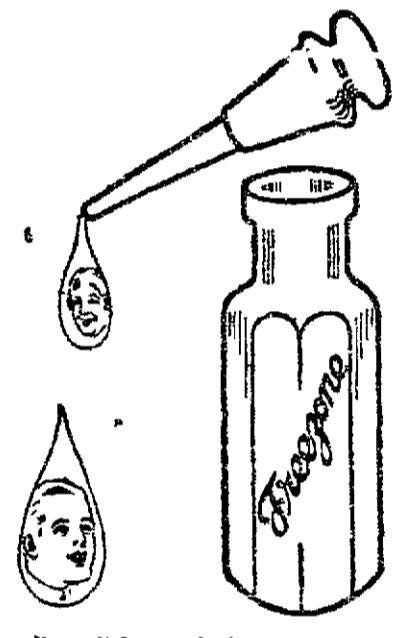

The team is well known here. Miss McCoy being an Oakland product, and so it sounds with a well-arranged routine of nut comedy, finishing with an accordion solo by the young woman.

Headlining the bill this week is Richard Bartlett, assisted by Elsa Carratt and company in "Cave Man Love," a comedy with music, on the subject of matrimony. It was presented in four scenes. The other scenic display was the vaudeville oddly presented by Earle S Dewey and Mabel Rogers in "No Tomorrow." Dewey scored with his comedy and the pair sang several songs with success.

The bill opens with Schepp's comedy circus, a standard act with appeal for the children. Miss Hope Vernon in the second act followed as an "international song artist" but did not make an impression. The program is rounded out by Harvard Holt and Kendrick in a bicycle acrobatic act. "The Love Letter," with Gladys Walton, is the motion picture feature.—W. S.

TODAY I AM REAL WELL

So Writes Woman After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Jamestown, N.Y.—"I was nervous, easily excited and discouraged and had no ambition. Part of the time I was not able to sit up as I suffered with pains in my back and with weakness. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, both the liquid and tablet forms, and I am well again. Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash for inflammation. Today I am real well and run a rooming house and do the work. I recommend your medicine to every woman who complains, and you may use my letter to help any one else. I am passing through the Change of Life now and I keep the Vegetable Compound in the house, ready to take when I feel the need of it."—Mrs. Jameson, N.Y.

Often somesight derangement may cause a general upset condition of the whole system, indicated by such symptoms as nervousness, backache, lack of ambition and general weakness.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will be found a splendid medicine for such troubles. In many cases it has removed the cause of the trouble.

Winchester, Ky. Citizen Cheerful Remedy to All Sufferers.

His letter follows: "Burns Avenue, Winchester, Ky. I had severe rheumatism for three months; tried several remedies without receiving any benefit whatever. A friend advised me to try ALLENRHU as it had cured him. I bought three bottles from the George Drug Co., this city. When I began taking this medicine I was unable to do any work. I could neither dress myself nor raise my hand to comb my hair. I am now almost well and feel confident that last of the three bottles I am now taking will completely cure me. I can cheerfully recommend this truly wonderful remedy to any rheumatic sufferer." Signed A. E. Keer.

ALLENRHU has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and pitiful and where the patient was helpless.

SCHOOL BOARD ROW DEVELOPS INTO INQUIRY

Superintendent Hunter Demands Grand Jury Inquiry of Charges.

why the boys were used for campaign purposes.

Among other things Walker alleged that the episode was "inexplicable," "un-American," "despicable," "uninspired" and to be the most disgraceful action" including dismissals.

"I deny that the superintendent's office has anything to do with the episode," said Hunter. "This whole proceeding cannot go unnoticed. I have prepared a statement on this charge of politics in reply to these many charges."

Hunter then read his long statement concerning the alleged political camouflage of those who chose politics against him.

"I object to any trial now," said Campbell.

"This is not a trial but a statement," said Hunter.

"I want to hear no statement," said Campbell.

"Time after time when I have wanted a square deal before this board," shouted Hunter, "I have had the big lie applied."

"You're out of order," said Directors Ormsby and Campbell.

"I want to ask the chair if I am to be subjected to this form of injustice," said Hunter.

HUNTER ALLOWED TO GIVE STATEMENT.

"We have listened to the charges," said Birch. "Now we'll listen to the other side."

"There's no argument on either side," said Campbell.

"I am an American citizen," said Hunter.

"We will be here," said Birch.

Hunter then read his long statement the first sentence of which read: "In my opinion in order to provide the school system with a system of political camouflage, the school board has continually heeded him because he would not play this sort of politics. He said:

I regret that it is necessary for me to make the statement which I am about to make. It has been my consistent desire during all the disturbances that have attended the meetings of the Board of Education during the past two years to restrain from attack and end of a certain group of administration by any means when the school system of administration became an open attack. Inasmuch as these boys, teachers and the administration are all to me for me to make this brief statement.

This charge of politics in the schools" is another political attack directed at the public schools and the teachers and children of Oakland for 35 years—ever since I have been in Oakland and I have been fighting to protect the schools from political pollution. It has been necessary for me to face the facts as head of this school system to face assault and to defend my right as superintendent to give Oakland's 40,000 children the best education the people of Oakland are willing to pay.

GROUP AT WORK.

Now again comes this at 1 upon teachers, principals and superintendents. Now I say this is the working of a certain group to carry on in their to run the present administration. Before I was elected superintendent of schools in Oakland in 1911, the Board of Education sent me a letter of protestation of the action of the Board of Education. I wrote a letter to the Board of Education personally, and I went to come to our office and told them they would open a letter which I had sent to the Board of Education.

Now I am attempting to do the same thing again.

Let me tell you the truth from 1920 I was sent to represent the people of Oakland to the Board of Education to do the same thing again.

Oakland is a city of the name of which was at the time in the school system of the state as a result of business of some schools was attacked and a motion made by a director, representing this faction, to abolish the system of selecting teachers. A complete record is to be found in the minutes of the board of education on January 8, 1921, August 17, 1921, and August 22, 1921, executives were ordered to persons representing this faction to place unqualified teachers in the schools, presumably as personal or political favors. Many other instances of attempts to corrupt the merit system.

INTERFERENCE WITH PROMOTION OF PUPILS

The faction not only has attempted to substitute the old school system of selecting teachers for the merit system in operation for many years, but has also interfered seriously with the promotion and assignment of pupils, and has even attempted to bring improper influences to bear within the internal administration of several of the schools, or as late as August 1, 1921, a member of the board of education, using this faction, wrote a letter to a principal requesting him to furnish a list of pupils in a school class in division of the title of the school, the board of education. This letter is now on file, and is a member of the board of education, representing this faction, directed a principal to change a child from one grade to another for which the child was not qualified and in violation of the rules of the school.

On December 9, 1921, a man representing the board of education, representing this faction, or tried an executive to assign pupils to schools in violation of the previous adopted direction of the board in order to confer a favor upon personal friend. On July 16, 1921, another executive was asked to make a similar legal assignment by a member of this faction. Other flagrant examples of attempts on the part of directors of this group to use the schools for personal ends could be cited, but will not do so.

I don't do it now," said Hunter.

That said, then introduced his resolution as follows:

Whereas, in information with other of intent to support this resolution in to be held this bond will follow to fit.

PLAN UNIFLITE FOR SAN LEANDRO CHAMBER DRIVE

Reorganization Scheme Out-line Will Be Sent Out During Week.

SAN LEANDRO, May 1.—Preliminary work for the reorganization of the San Leandro Chamber of Commerce is about completed, according to J. M. Sullivan, field representative of the California Development Association supervising the program. Committees have been appointed and their duties outlined to them. This week every citizen of San Leandro will receive a complete outline of the plan adopted for re-organizing the chamber. This will be followed by an outline of a practical working plan of a modern chamber of commerce.

"There should be absolutely no confusion in the public mind as to the relation of the men who have volunteered to assist in this re-organization movement to the new chamber of commerce. These men have taken hold of the matter because it was a work which must be done, and they are willing to give their time to it. There is some belief that the workers are to be drawn from the various committees of the chamber. Nothing is settled for the present.

"With the close of the membership campaign the directors, the executive committee and all others will automatically cease to exist as bodies, and their members will assume exactly the same rank as all others who join the chamber. A complete new structure is contemplated, from the ground up. The new membership will be free to nominate and choose directors and no man now serving on a committee or in any other capacity will have any priority of consideration in the choice of the new board. The votes of the membership alone will determine the personnel of the new governing group of the Chamber of Commerce.

If you see it in The TRIBUNE tell them so.

It's Time and Everyone in the East Bay

Woman Drinks Poison.

Mrs. May Singleton, 1320 East Twenty-fifth street, was treated at the Emergency hospital last night for an overdose of poison. Her condition is not serious, according to the doctors.

POP SAID THAT I HAD

FEET. GEE! HOW COULD IT BE? THEY'RE THE ONLY FEET I'VE GOT.

My husband has a rough-neck friend who swears, and he's always bringing him home to dinner.—V. R. C.

What Does Your Husband Do?

Attempted Suicide Falls.

Following a quarrel with her husband, Mrs. H. N. Nelson, 943 Argar street, attempted to end her life last night by taking poison. She was taken to the Emergency hospital by her husband. It was found she had taken a small dose and a burned mouth was the only result.

One Is a Life Term.

A boy was put in jail to keep him from marrying. An East Bay he-necked husband wants to know wherefore lies the difference.

LOSS OF DOYLE AND FRENCH IS HARD BLOW TO VERNON CLUB

OAKLAND TECHNICAL HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETES ARE CLEANING UP IN ALL LINES OF SPORT

Coal Oil Is Thrown Into Smoulderings

Doyle and French Barred
From Vernon and Mails
Gets Suspended.

By EDDIE MURPHY.

Just when everybody thought that the baseball war between the owners of the Coast and major league clubs was over, still after the present season, at the least, along came a couple of gleams to drop coal oil into the smoulderings and to start another big blaze. The Oakland baseball club owners learned early this morning, through the transbay press and not directly from President William H. McCarthy, that Pitcher Walter (Duster) Mails has been suspended for three days and fined $50 for taking part in the riot which followed a rank decision by Bill Byron at the Oakland ball park last Sunday morning. Why the transbay press should learn of Mails' suspension and fine fully eighteen hours ahead of the owners of the club in which the player belongs is something that Cal Ewing, president of the Oakland Baseball Association, would like to know. The other can of coal oil was thrown into the ashes when Commissioner Kenesaw Landis sent word to the owners of the Vernon ball club that Ray French and Jesse Doyle are not eligible to play with their club or the New York Yankees and that they are free agents.

BYRON STARTED RIOT. To charge Mails with starting the riot at the Oakland ball park last Sunday looks like a lot of foolishness. Byron had hardly called Knight out at first base when cushion and pop bottles were flying like the "big game" at the Coliseum. Oakland players did all in their power to halt the cushion and bottle throwing when it was apparent that a riot was about to take place. Of course Oakland players did rush at Byron as soon as he made the worst decision ever witnessed at a Coast League game, but none of them laid their hands upon him. They were out to learn what it was all about. Buz Arlett, Jack Knight and other members of the team faced the crowds with hands in the air, but their efforts to stop the throwing resulted in Jack Knight and a few other Oakland players being within an inch of flying pop bottles. Byron's terrible decision started the riot and nothing else and we wonder how long McCarthy will put up with such kind of decisions, which some day may bring more trouble than that at the Oakland park Sunday morning. When players and owners of the opposing club admit that Byron had no reason at all to call Knight out there must have been something wrong about Byron.

WHY NOT MAILS FIRST?

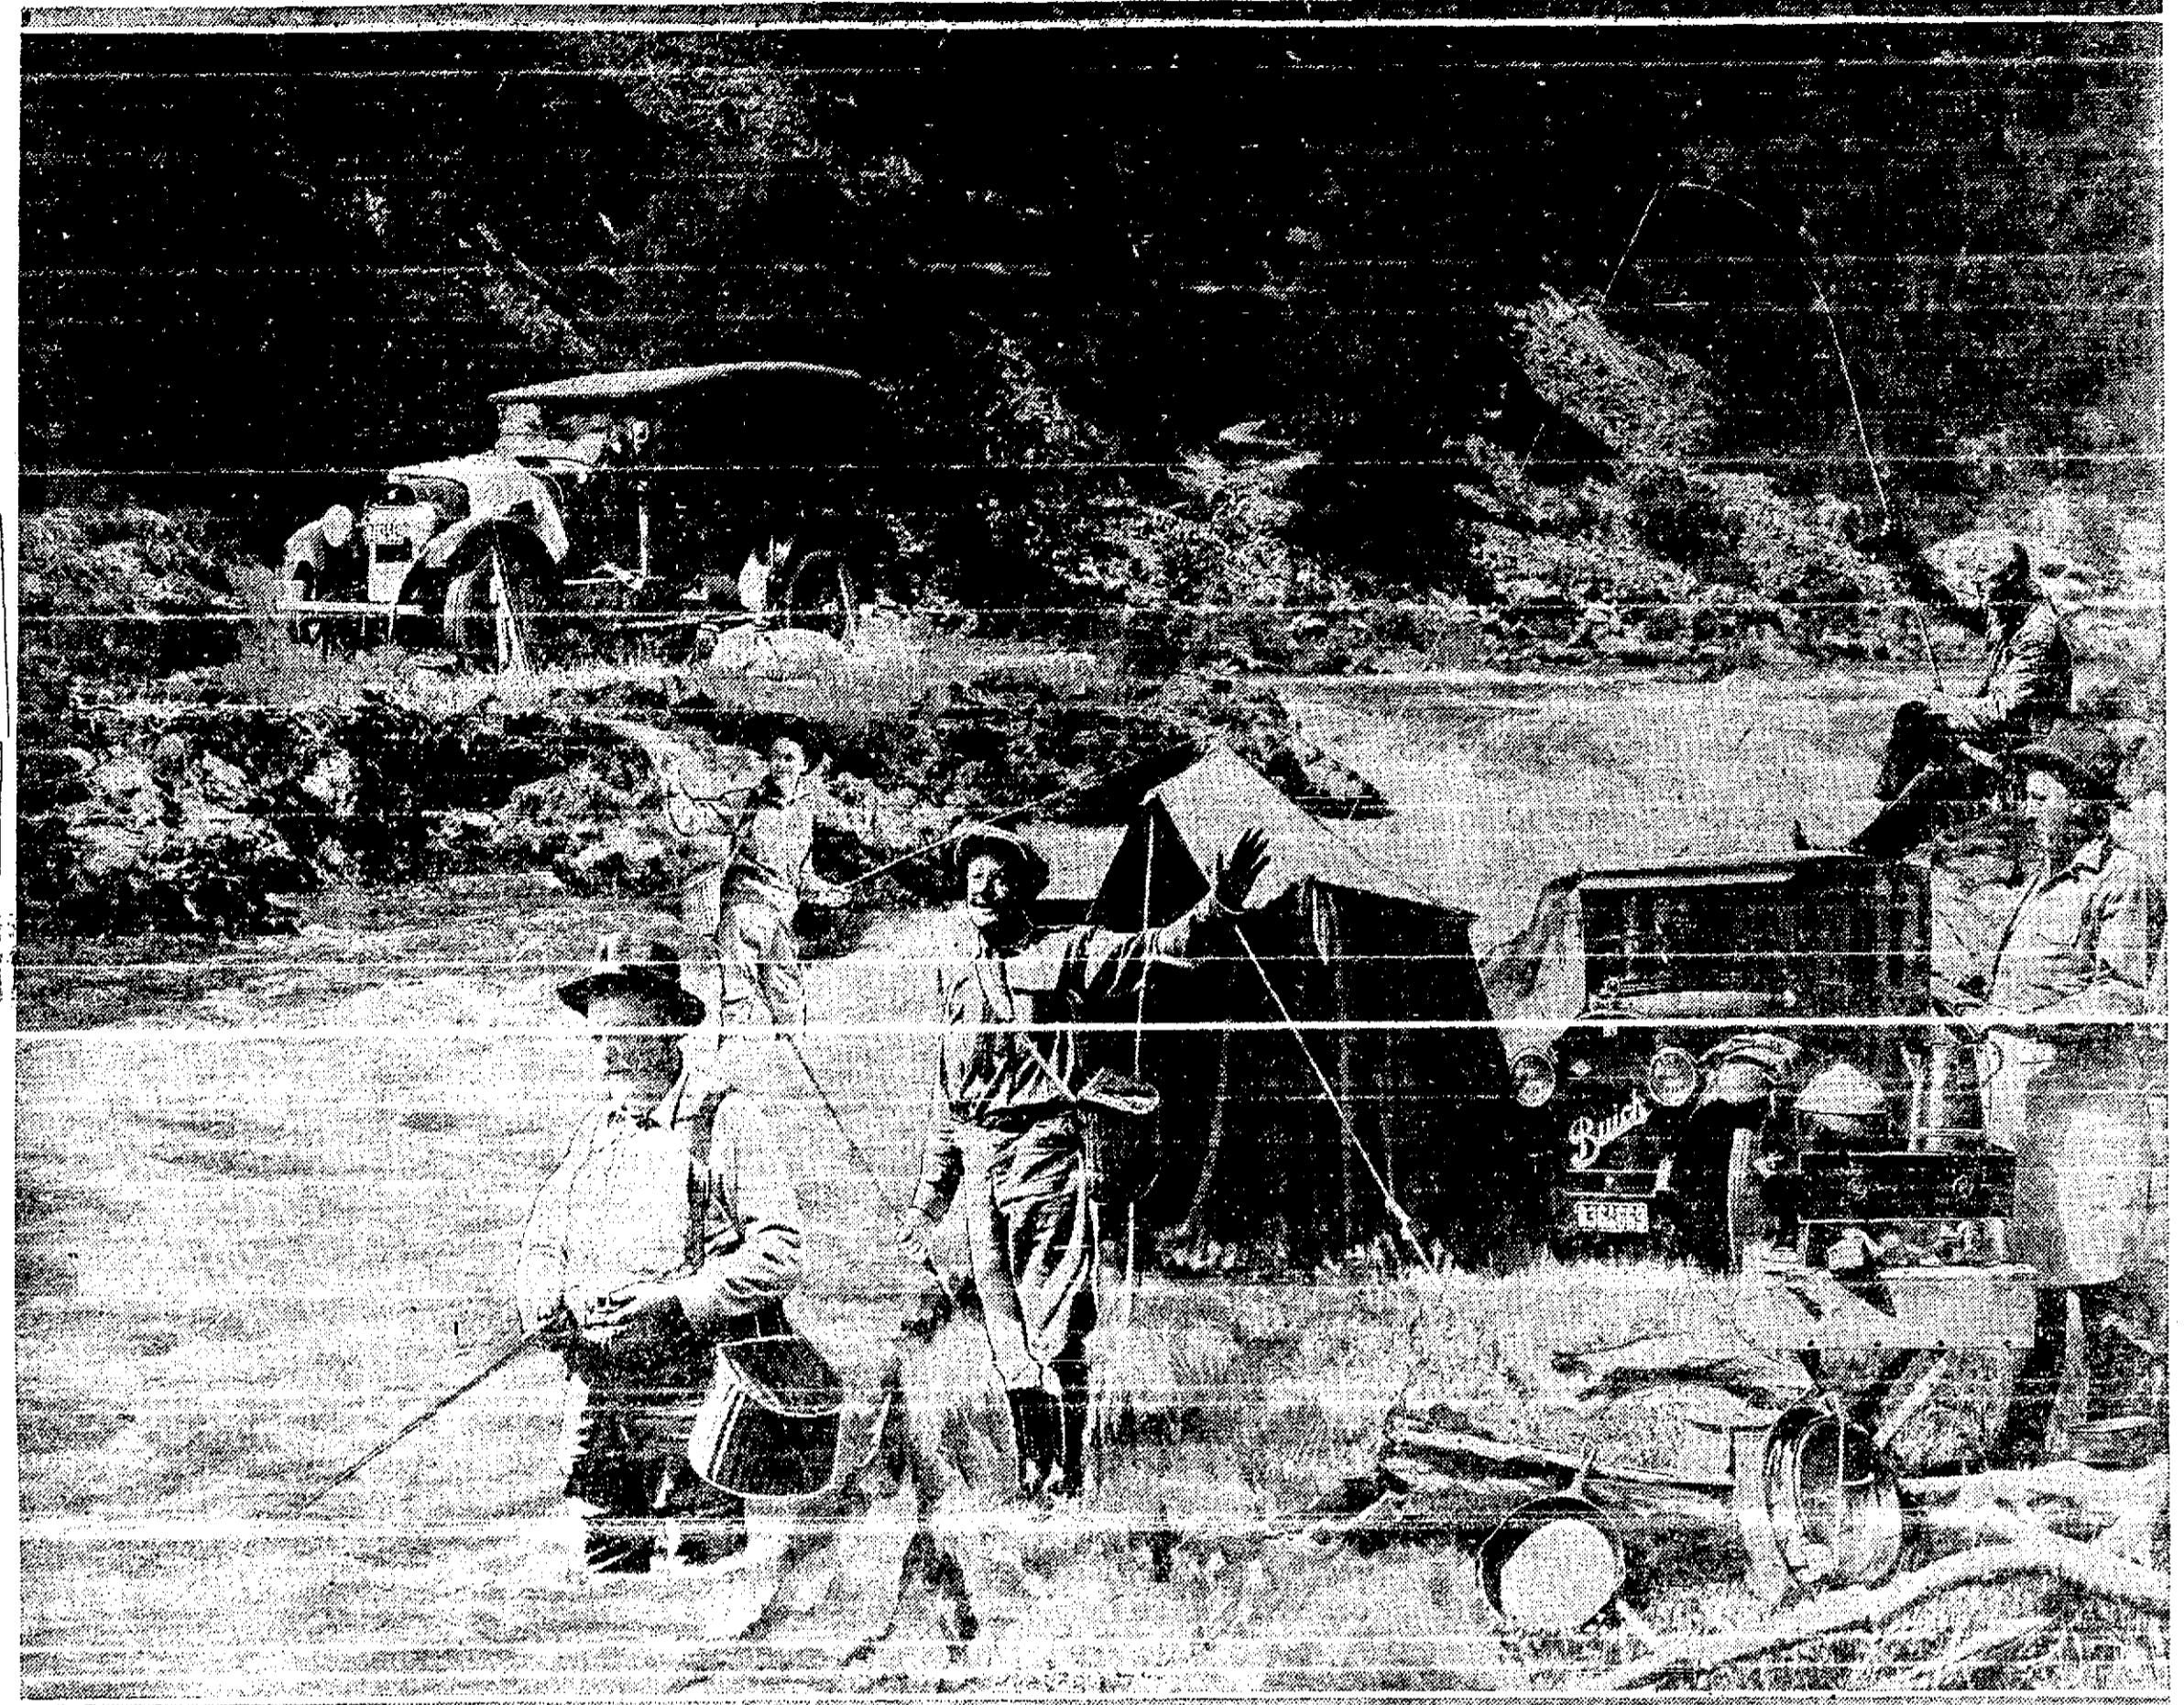

If Mails did start the riot, why was it that Umpire Bill Byron raced all the way across the field to third base to throw Chet Thomas off the field before he sent Mails to the clubhouse? Anyway, the suspension of Mails will not make the fans who saw the game believe that any one other than Bill Byron was responsible for the riot. Cal Ewing will probably accuse McCarthy of trying to rub it in worse than ever on the local ball club. About the only way that McCarthy will satisfy the local fans is to put some kind of a punishment on Byron for his rank decision and also for walking toward the bleacher crowd and waving a red flag in their faces. It is true that Mails did some things that a ballplayer should refrain from on the diamond, but the league president was acting on the report of Umpire Bill Byron and it happened to be that Byron played on Mails and rubbed it in bad for him. McCarthy could hardly let the trouble go by unnoticed.

Although a complaint was filed with Commissioner Landis shortly before the opening of the 1923 season about the Vernon Club getting Ray French and Jesse Doyle from the New York Yankees, after January 14, the date set for the last chance of P. C. L. clubs to buy players from the majors, the league president was acting on the report of Umpire Bill Byron and it happened to be that Byron played on Mails and rubbed it in bad for him. McCarthy could hardly let the trouble go by unnoticed.

Although a complaint was filed with Commissioner Landis shortly before the opening of the 1923 season about the Vernon Club getting Ray French and Jesse Doyle from the New York Yankees, when the Yanks could not get bats, May came from the Tigers, they got French and held Doyle and French in their possession as long as they could. They even tried to dispose of Doyle and French to the San Francisco clubs. The Oakland club wired to the New York owners telling them

Brooklyn May Buy Pinelli for $100,000

CINCINNATI, O., May 1.—The Cincinnati Times-Dispatch says to-day that the tip was out, and was backed up by word from Brooklyn, that Charles Eblots, president of the Brooklyn National, has made a straight offer of $100,000 for Ralph "Babe" Pinelli, third baseman of the Cincinnati Reds. According to the story published by the Times-star the offer was made after the Cincinnati club had refused an offer of Leon Cadore, pitcher, for Walter Johnson, in-felder.

August Herman, president of the Cincinnati club, said that he had not received such a proposition from Pinelli.

McCarthy Says Little About Landis' Action

SAN FRANCISCO, May 1.—President William U. McCarthy declined to comment at length to-day on the decision of Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis in depriving Vernon of the services of Harry French and Doyle Knobbe, the long-woined after the players. The Tammie of the Yankees, signed Jim Doherty, former star of Seattle, under the date of January 22, that he had the two players on the market. Charley Lockhardt, no doubt came across this information, but if you remember right, a club took a protest on Doyle and French before the season opened.

All this tangle is brought about by the warring claimants of the major and minor leagues, but the war being carried on by the club owners in the Coast League alone.

August Herman, president of the Cincinnati club, said that he had not received such a proposition for Pinelli.

Tom Gibbons Expects to Be Next Champion

NEW ORLEANS, May 1.—Ex-pressing keen satisfaction over the fact that he is to meet Jack Dempsey for the world's heavyweight title at Shelby, Mont., July 4, Tommy Gibbons today declared that he had every expectation of being the next champion of the world.

"Just let me at him," Gibbons said. "I've been trying to get Jack Dempsey into a ring for two years."

"I figure I'm about three times as fast as Dempsey. I can take it and I can come pretty near punching as hard as he can. And that's a combination Dempsey has never been up against. I know I can handle him, let me have him, that's all I ask."

Huskies Will Lose Valuable Man From Boat

SEATTLE, May 1.—The raising of $12,600 to send the University of Washington varsity and freshman crews to the national regatta at Poughkeepsie, next month, was begun today by a committee headed by Ward Katum of the board of rowing stewards of the university. Katum and five assistants were chosen last night at a meeting of the executive board of the University of Washington alumni association. The faculty has consented for the varsity to make the trip east, costing $8,000, and has intimated that the freshman crew may go also if the people of the community show that they desire it.

At Claremont tomorrow the Athenian-Niles golfer resume their annual medal 26-hole contest, which was started at Sequoyah last Tuesday. J. J. There are great possibilities regarding the final placings when the scores are totaled tomorrow evening and the winners of the numerous trophies are announced.

Leon Clark, F. H. Wiley, Stanley Farnham and Wm. Knowles are all well acquainted with the angles of the course and will make desperate efforts to overhaul the Sequoyah players.

St. Mary's Retains Madigan as Coach For Coming Season

Coach Edward P. ("Slip") Madigan signed his contract for the coming year as football coach at St. Mary's College, thereby putting at rest all rumors which had him slated to leave the local institution.

Madigan announced that he would attend the Notre Dame coaching school from the middle of June until August, where he would be assistant to Knute Rockne, the Notre Dame coach. Madigan will leave here the first week in June and plans to return before the first of the ledger and only one on the opposite.

SEVEN OUT OF EIGHT.

With track placed on the shelf until 1924, Old Man Baseball appears on the horizon. Will Tech make it seven out of eight by capturing the flag in the national baseline? According to the dope, they may. The only obstacle is Fremont High, and the lads sporting the Green and Gold spangles are as strong, if not stronger, than the Techneites.

Friday the two teams will meet at the Coast League grounds in the first game of the "big series." Besides this game there will be another, which will probably take place at the close of the season.

The men of Friday's game will have the best chance of winning the gongalon, for they will enter the second tilt with added confidence. "Red" McCarron, for Tech, will probably work against Captain Kardozza of the Boulevard squad.

2 STEAMERS TO BE PLACED ON RUN TO SIBERIA AREA

Former Transport Buford Will Be One; Will Carry Passengers, Cargo.

FORTLAND, Ore., May 1.—The Alaskan-Siberian Navigation company has arranged to operate a smaller steamer in addition to the passenger-cargo steamer Buford in the Pacific Coast-Alaskan trade, according to a telegram received by Chalmers and Cartwright, steamship agents. The latter firm was designated agent for the line here.

The Admiral Schley docked here today with passengers and cargo from California ports. The vessel is replacing the Admiral Farragut for several trips, the latter steamer having been held for repairs at San Francisco.

Charles L. Wheeler, general manager at San Francisco for the McCormick-Munson line, is expected Friday from New York. Spokane Wheeler while in New York concluded arrangements with the Munson lines for the combination with the McCormick interests in the operation of inter-coastal steamship exports of wheat, flour, lumber and general cargo by water from Portland increased during April as compared with March. Customs house figures today showed for the months' export should be $2,232,000 with no prospect for additional foreign clearances for this month. Total export for March was $1,322,000.

Portland exports amounted to $2,102,300 feet, valued at $832,000, as compared with 19,322,674 feet, valued at $531,975, in March.

Liner California Has Been Launched

The third of the Anchor Lines new oil burners, the California, was successfully launched at Glasgow on April 17, according to word received yesterday at the local office.

She is similar in construction to the same line's Camerona and Tuscania, and will be completed on the same plans. The dimensions of the California are: 571.6 feet in length; 50 feet in breadth, and 42.9 feet in midship depth. She will be of about 17,000 tons. Like her sister ships, she has a straight stem and cruiser stern, two steel pole masts and one funnel, no more being needed on an oil burner. She will carry three classes of passengers and will have when completed, accommodation for 200 first, 300 second and 1,100 third class passengers.

Salvage of Brush Cargo Is Under Way

COOS BAY, Ore., April 30.—Considerable property has been salvaged from the off portion of the steamer Brush, which ran aground on South Bay reef, three miles south of the Coos Bay bar. Ed Lund, pilot for the port of Coos Bay, was in charge of the salvaging operations yesterday when the tug Oregon went to sea and started early in the morning and continued to 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Bounded goods were taken from the brush, including some silk rags, cigars, toilet sets. These were turned over to Chester Clark, customs officer, who was present, and the Oregon had besides a large and valuable quantity of ship's fittings, including the wireless apparatus, batteries, furniture, cable rope, indicators and other paraphernalia.

CLASSES KEPT UP
DESPITE FIRE AT DAMAGED SCHOOLPrincipal and Teachers At Hawthorne Praised for Saving Children.

Modern methods of education have taken from the school boys of today the vacation opportunities formerly attendant upon the burning down of the schoolhouse, so the 750 pupils of the Hawthorne school today were pursuing their education, uninterrupted by the fire of yesterday, instead of beginning an unexpected holiday.

The schoolhouse yesterday was rendered useless by a fire, which for a time menaced the lives of the pupils. There was some talk, even during the excitement of the fire, of a possible vacation, but before the children were dismissed for the day, they were instructed to be at school promptly at 8 o'clock this morning, just as if nothing had happened.

So at the usual time today the Hawthorne school pupils filed into a hurriedly-assembled collection of portable buildings and instruction was taken up without a moment's loss of time.

TEACHERS PRAISED.

High commendation of Principal W. V. Mersereau and the twenty-one teachers of the Hawthorne school for their command of the situation when the building was in the grip of the flames and the lives of 400 of the 750 children of the school rested in their hands, was voiced by Superintendent of Schools Fred M. Hunter at the meeting of the Board of Education last night.

Reports made to the board show that the building was emptied in 51 seconds.

"It is a remarkable demonstration of the efficiency of the Hawthorne principal and teaching staff," said Hunter.

The loss, including equipment, will amount to $35,000, according to Dr. Rice, business manager of the Board of Education. The building, erected twenty-five years ago, carried $25,000 insurance.

About 450 pupils at the time of the fire were being instructed in the school annex, which was not damaged by the flames.

While it was thought that the fire originated from sparks which painters working on the building saw falling from the chimney, an investigation was started today to determine the actual cause of the fire.

SANDY TO INVESTIGATE.

Battalion Chief Frank J. Sandy, head of the fire prevention and arson bureau, is conducting the investigation. He said today that he was not entirely satisfied as to the cause of the fire. In the event that the roof was not ignited by sparks from the school chimney or from the chimneys of adjoining houses, Sandy said it must have caught fire following the spontaneous combustion of the painted materials stored in the attic of the school.

Charles Meyers, 1401 East Franklin street, who suffered a fracture of the spine when he was struck by the automobile of Battalion Chief Sandy as the latter was speeded to the blaze, was reported to be resting easily at Merritt hospital today. Hosman M. J. Crowley of Engine No. 21, who was painfully burned on the hand and arm when he held up a burning cornice to prevent it from falling on his comrades below, will not lose the use of his arm, hospital attendants say.

Fire Chief Sam Shou declared that the small fire was yesterday day after the fire was put out to lack of pressure on the fire mains but to the fact that the mains in the vicinity of the school are too small. School officials had not determined today whether the structure would be rebuilt or replaced by a new building. The building damaged yesterday has a replacement value of $50,000, according to the business manager of the school department.

Dodge Pomp by Rural Wedding

MRS. JOHN J. MERSEREAU, who surprised her friends with the announcement of her marriage in Modesto last Thursday, the couple eloping to evade a large church wedding in May.

Slip Away, Married.

BERKELEY, May 1.—Following a courtship which had its beginning a year ago when the couple were attendants at the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Milo Phelps of Modesto, Miss Betty Roberts, 19, and John J. Mersereau, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beardsley Mersereau of Jean street, eloped to Modesto Thursday and were quietly married at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Phelps in that city April 26 by Rev. J. McClure of the Presbyterian church of that city.

The bride, not yet out of her teens, has just graduated from the Berkeley High School and Mersereau is a graduate of the University of California. Mrs. Mersereau was Miss Wilson (Betty) Roberts, and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Wilson Roberts of Berkeley. The wedding was planned for the earliest part of the month, to be preceded by a large anniversary party.

Seeking to avoid all this, the couple secretly eluded their friends and motored to Modesto, where the nuptial knot was tied.

Mersereau is a brother of Miss Edith Mersereau and Mrs. Clarence A. Bulwinkle (Margaret Mersereau) of San Francisco, whose wedding was a smart social event.

After their return from their honeymoon Mersereau and his bride will go to the high Sierras, where the former is owner of a large stock ranch near Wawona, and will continue his literary work. Later they will build a home in Piedmont.

Margaret Anglin Visits
U. of C. Greek Theater

BERKELEY, May 1.—After visiting the Greek Theater yesterday where on May 29 she will present her seventh classical play in the same setting, Margaret Anglin, famous tragedienne, is on her way to Los Angeles today to fulfill engagements in the south. She will return to Berkeley May 29 to conduct final rehearsals for the "Hippolitus" of Euripides, the vehicle chosen for her Berkeley production.

Miss Anglin was entertained yesterday at luncheon by President and Mrs. James P. Barrows of the University of California. At the Greek Theater she was greeted by May Radin, assistant director of the amphitheater activities; Mayor Louis Bartlett; James K. Fisk, assistant recorder of the university; and by a corps of workmen, electricians and property men who aided her in other productions in those old Greek theaters, but the plays themselves are so great; their themes are so tremendous and so majestic they seem to have a message for the people and I have found that the people respond to them wonderfully.

PASTOR MISSING

MORE THAN WEEK

Rev. Hugh Funeaux, Known
As 'Shepherd of the Hills,' Object of Sierra Hunt.

Special to The Tribune.

STOCKTON, May 1.—Rev. Hugh Funeaux, known as the "Shepherd of the Hills," pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, Columbia, Tuolumne county, has been missing for more than a week, and friends and the authorities today instituted a wide search for the missing cleric in the fear that he may have been stricken with illness or amnesia while on a visit to the lumber camps. Rev. Funeaux's wife is said to reside in Berkeley.

Friends recall that Rev. Funeaux had been complaining of severe pains in the head shortly before his disappearance and it is feared this may have caused amnesia or he may have suffered sudden illness in a lonely part of the country.

It was the habit of Rev. Funeaux to make frequent trips to the lumber camps and it was in this way he won the sobriquet of "Shepherd of the Hills." For this reason his disappearance did not at first cause comment. Then inquiries were made at the different lumber camps which reported Rev. Funeaux had not been seen. It has also been ascertained that his mail at the Columbia post office has remained uncalled for. These reports caused the wide search which was begun today.

The search has been conducted by the city fathers.

Residents living east of the Santa Fe tracks on the residential portion of the thoroughfare under discussion, were present and declared:

"Everybody in the country is laughing at the name Main street. You'd think we lived in a small Products Company."

Row Over Main Street in Albany Amicably Settled

ALBANY, May 1.—Around the very same "Main Street" as immortalized by Sinclair Lewis in his tale of Gopher Prairie, a war is raging in the city of Albany. The city trustees, caught between two fires, have thrown up their hands in surrender. And a portion of Albany's Main street is no more.

A preliminary story to the fray, let it be explained that Albany's "Main street" is the one directly between the waterfront and the hills. Half of the present Main street is devoted to business interests and the remaining section occupied with attractive homes. And therein lies the story.

Originally the residential portion of the city was on Solano avenue but to avoid confusion the city trustees designated the entire thoroughfare as "Main street." To further complicate matters, the southern half of Main street, for four blocks beginning at Tulare avenue, lies in the city of Berkeley. And Berkeley's side of the street is designated as Solano avenue.

Last night a fire that has smoldered for months burst into a blaze of magnitude at the week-long session of the city fathers.

Residents living east of the Santa Fe tracks on the residential portion of the thoroughfare under discussion, were present and declared:

"There doesn't seem to be any way to settle this controversy except to give each side its point. Why not call that section of the street east of the Santa Fe tracks and in which homes predominate, Solano avenue and the remaining business portion Main street?"

Applause from both sides met the suggestion.

By unanimous vote the official board split Main street in two.
